DREAD PLAGUE MAY NOT SPREAD

Officials Believe It Will Be Kept in Quarantine.

TYPHUS MENACE IS GIVEN ATTENTION

Members of Congress Aroused Over Situation.

Some Are Demanding Drastic Steps To Curb Immigration. Hordes of Europe Constitute Real Menace to America.

Washington, Feb. 11.—Drastic measures were agreed upon, today, to prevent the dreaded typhus being brought into the United States by immigrants, following a conference between Surgeon General Hugh Cummings, of the public health service and Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Ewing Laporte.

Surgeon General Cummings announced that increased medical personnel will be sent to Europe to examine all immigrants and that the closest medical examination will be made before anyone desiring to come to the United States is given a bill of health. The issuance of bills of health will be greatly restricted.

Typhus Carriers.

Washington, Feb. 11. — Despite most drastic protective measures, typhus carriers are entering the United States, Commissioner General of Immigration Caminetti stated, today. He expressed confidence, however, that the "plague will never get beyond the confines of the quarantine zone."

Dr. Hugh S. Cummings, surgeon general of the United States public health service, admitted that cases of the dread plague are entering the country, but declared that he had no fears of an epidemic. In spite of the confidence of Caminetti and Dr. Cummings, members of congress are aroused at the situation and Senator King, Democrat, Utah, announced, today, that he will wage a fight on the senate floor for the immediate passage of legislation barring all immigrants for a period of at least one year.

Senator Harrison, of Mississippi, announced that he would call upon the senate to lay pending legislation aside in favor of immigration-exclusion legislation.

President Wilson has under consideration, an appeal from health Commissioner Copeland, of New York, asking that a quarantine be placed to protect the nation from typhus.

Strong measures to combat the entrance to typhus into the United States have been taken by the immigration service, acting in concert with the public health service, Commissioner Caminetti asserted.

Sees the Danger.

"During my recent tour of inspection in Europe, during which I visited eight countries," said Caminetti, "I saw the great danger that confronted this country through the great hordes of Europeans planning to come to the United States and immediately upon my return, strict orders were issued to all immigration stations to take the utmost precautions to prevent the entry of all persons who might bring typhus germs with them. Despite all our precautions, some cases have slipped in, but we are confident that the plague will never get beyond the confines of the quarantine zones.

Caminetti said that a number of countries of western Europe were aiding in the work of stamping out typhus by inspecting and fumigating the baggage of all prospective immigrants passing through their countries to ports to take passage for America.

Dr. J. W. Kerr, who is in charge of the hospital service at Ellis island, accompanied Caminetti on his recent European trip.

"Dr. Kerr also has had large experience and knows what precautionary measures are needed to keep down the threatened typhus menace," added Caminetti.

"He came back from the European field with a personal knowledge of the European situation and of what was in a position to act promptly.

Every Precaution.

"We are taking every precaution in the matter of typhus entering the United States." Surgeon General Cummings said. "There is no danger of a typhus epidemic in the United States becoming general. If we should happen to have any typhus in the United States, it would be confined to congested districts of large cities.

One thing with which we are

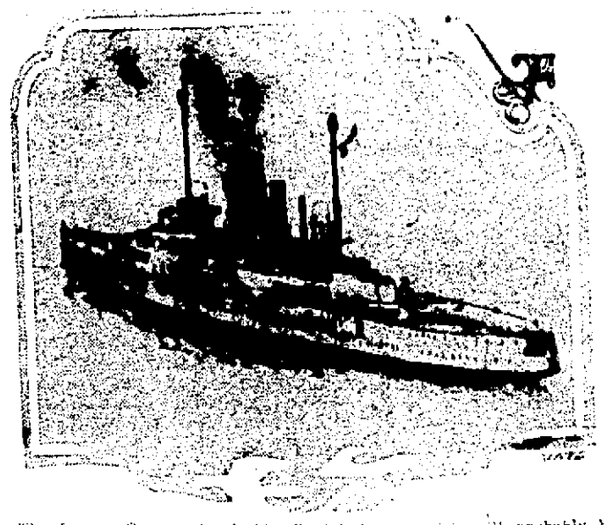
SURRENDERED GERMAN BATTLESHIP FOR AEROPLANE MARK



The former German battleship, Ostfriesland, which will probably be used in tests to decide the controversy on the superiority of aircraft over battleships, which is now raging in army and navy circles in Washington. The test will probably be made within ninety days, and attempts will be made to blow up the vessel with bombs dropped from army planes. The above photograph was made from an airplane when the surrendered German warship entered New York harbor.

STRIKE MOVEMENT IS SPREADING

London, Feb. 11. — The strike movement in Athens is spreading and a general strike appears inevitable, said an Exchange Telegraph company despatch from that city.

GEDDES GIVEN AN AUDIENCE BY KING

London, Feb. 11. — King George, today, gave an audience to Sir Auckland Geddes, the British ambassador to the United States. The conference lasted twenty minutes.

AMENDMENT TO JUDICIAL BILL

Provides for Increase in Salary of Vice President.

SENATE APPROVES PROPOSED BOOST

Advance Will Give Vice President $15,000 a Year.

Steps Taken To Restrain the Secretary of Treasury from Advancing Further Loans to Any Foreign Country.

Washington, Feb. 11.—An amendment to the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill providing for an increase in the salary of the vice president, from $12,000 to $15,000, was passed in the senate, today. The amendment was introduced by Senator Pomerene, Democrat, of Ohio.

No Objection.

Washington, Feb. 11.—The state department, today, cabled General Crowder, at Havana, that the United States would interpose no objection to the proposed commission to fix the price of sugar exported from Cuba, so long as no attempt was made to inflate the price of sugar, artificially, to the American consumer. The contention of the Cuban government was that the natural law of supply and demand had broken down and that the price-fixing commission is necessary to restore it.

To Show Cause.

Washington, Feb. 11.—Secretary of the Treasury Houston was, today, ordered to show cause, next Friday, why he should not be restrained from allowing further credits to foreign governments. The rule was issued by Justice Iliitz, of the supreme court of the District of Columbia, in response to an action filed by William Randolph Hearst, as a citizen and a taxpayer.

Through his attorneys, Ansell & Bailey, Mr. Hearst charges that Secretary Houston and his predecessors in office advanced to foreign governments, $9,580,823,677.15 and that a balance of $419,175,322.85 out of a fund of $10,000,000,000, remains in the custody of the secretary of the treasury and that the secretary is about to make further advances to foreign governments.

Mr. Hearst charges specifically that Secretary Houston is about to make credits to the following governments, in the following amounts: Czecho-Slovak republic, $6,072,-534; France, $50,496,977,24; Greece, $60,236,529,93; Italy, $34,921,-192,75; Liberia $4,974,096.

Heavy Snowfall.

Sandusky, Feb. 11.—The heaviest snowfall of several winters is holding this locality in a firm grip, today. In places, drifts are five and six feet deep. Traffic of all kinds is hard hit.

PLANNING TO DIRECT TRADE

Discussions of Farmer-Labor Congress Today.

NEW DISTRIBUTION SYSTEM DEMANDED

Farm Products Pass Through Too Many Hands.

President Baker, of Farmers' National Council, Outlines a Scheme for Reaching the Consumer to Advantage.

Cleveland, Feb. 11.—Advocating direct trading between farm and consumer, on potatoes and other vegetables, Herbert F. Baker, president of the Farmers' National council and former president of the Michigan Potato Growers' exchange, this morning outlined to the All-American Farmer-Labor Cooperative congress plans for putting the idea into immediate effect. The speaker thought that labor unions could provide the means for financing the project and also attend to the details of distribution in city centers.

Discussing the problem of distribution under a cooperative system, Rev. R. A. McGowan, assistant director of the National Catholic Welfare association, pointed out that the one thing necessary was some effective organization of consumers to deal with producers.

"How is this to be done?" the speaker inquired.

"Labor unions sometimes arrange for the direct purchase by their members of farm products," he continued. "This is all right as a makeshift. The better thing to do, however, is to have cooperative retail and wholesale stores which can get in touch with cooperative farmers' organizations and save for themselves the unneeded expense in distributing goods and the profits of the distributors.

"The use of labor unions to arrange for their members' buying goods from farmers, is a makeshift, because it is cumbersome and can hardly be permanent.

"One of the most important pieces of work that this commission can perform is the encouragement of the establishment of cooperative retail stores in cities and towns and to my mind, one of the best ways of doing this is to have the labor organizations urge the establishment of such stores."

Cigar Dealer Held.

Dayton, Feb. 11.—Lou Bauman, Troy, cigar store man, is held under $2,500 bond by United States Commissioner Lenz, for the alleged holding up of Seth Hodges, mail carrier and taking two mail pouches containing $20,000, a week ago. Hodges approached by Bauman to stage a fake job, it is said, told federal officers and the "plot" was carried out.

TORNADO HITS LUMBER TOWN

Many Are Killed in a Storm in Georgia.

LUMBER PLANT AT OCONEE DESTROYED

Victims Are All Employes at the Plant.

Casualty List Reduced by Many Workers Leaving the Plant as the Storm Strikes—Relief Is Rushed to the Scene.

Sandersville, Georgia, Feb. 11.—The latest advices, today, from the villages of Oconee and Gardner, swept by a tornado, Thursday, states that two white persons, Benjamin F. Orr, fourteen; the little daughter of E. L. Minor, three years and twenty-one negroes were killed and between forty and fifty suffered broken bones and painful bruises.

The Minor child was crushed to death and the Orr boy completely decapitated.

The village of Gardner suffered most severely, where every cottage and shanty, except three, were demolished. At Oconee, the school building filled with pupils and two dwellings were blown away.

Many Are Dead.

Oconee, Ga., Feb. 11.—Twenty-six persons, one a boy, were killed when a tornado struck here soon after 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon, seriously damaging the plant of the Cleveland-Oconee Lumber company and other property.

Between thirty and forty others were injured.

After striking here, the tornado continued toward Augusta, according to reports and was said to have descended again between Macon and Camak.

The victims were all employes of the lumber company. The casualty list would have been much larger, it was stated, if the storm had not struck during the noon hour, when scores of the employes had gone to their homes.

The wind's fury centered about the plant of the Cleveland-Oconee company, but the main building, completed a few weeks ago, was practically unharmed.

One of the old buildings was wrecked and fifty dwellings, homes of employes, were demolished.

About 2,000,000 feet of lumber stacked in the yards was leveled to the ground. A relief train took the injured to Sandersville and Tennille.

The lumber plant was valued at approximately $400,000, but it was stated tonight, no estimate could be made of the damage done by the storm.

Relief Train.

Macon, Ga., Feb. 11.—Reports received from Toombsboro, eight miles from Oconee, said a relief train has arrived at the scene from Tennille, and the dead and injured are being taken to adjoining towns.

Work is also being rushed to reestablish telegraph and telephone communication.

The tornado struck the south side of the town, and, reports said, demolished, among other buildings, a school house occupied by children.

Doctors and Nurses.

Sanderville, Ga., Feb. 11.—The town of Oconee, in Washington county with a population of 500, was swept today by a cyclone, according to information reaching here. A special train has been sent to the scene bearing doctors and nurses.

PREMIER BRIAND URGED TO ACTION

Asked To Address Harding on League of Nations.

Paris, Feb. 11.—The Petit Parisien, in a column article on the first page, today, urged Premier Briant publicly to address President-Elect Harding on Franco-American relations, immediately after March 4, explaining that France can not renounce the league of nations because it is linked too closely with the treaty of Versailles, but announcing that France is ready to examine and doubtless will approve any American amendments.

In Federal Action.

Dayton, Feb. 11.—Thirty-six members of the International Tobacco Workers' union are defendants in federal action filed by the American Sumatra Tobacco company, which says the defendants have thrown fear into their employes. Judge Sater will hear the case, Tuesday.

ALLEGES A FRAME-UP AGAINST TOM MOONEY

Thomas J. Mooney, whose death sentence in connection with the bomb outrage in San Francisco on Preparedness day, July 12, 1916, was commuted to life imprisonment by President Wilson, was a victim of a "frame-up," to which John McDonald, of Trenton, New Jersey, a witness for the prosecution, has now confessed, according to an announcement made by Mooney's counsel, Frank P. Walsh. McDonald, according to Mr. Walsh's statement, confessed to swearing falsely at the trial, having been paid to perjure himself.

HARDING HAS MANY CALLERS

They Come with Advice on Various Subjects.

THRONG OFFICES AT ST. AUGUSTINE

Mrs. Harding Reaches Florida City for Her Vacation, This Afternoon.

St. Augustine, Fla., Feb. 11.—Mrs. Warren G. Harding will begin her Florida vacation, today. She is expected to arrive here, this afternoon. The president-elect will abandon his swarm of visitors for a time, in order to meet her at the station.

Among the crowd of visitors which jammed the Harding reception room, today, was Merlin Gillen, formerly assistant to John Barton Payne. Considerable significance is attached to Mr. Gillen's appointment with Mr. Harding, in view of the presence here of half a dozen big railroad executives and of J. Davis Warfield, of Baltimore, of the Association of Railway Securities holders. Mr. Payne is now acting as director general of railways and the railroad executives, it is known, are extremely anxious that some arrangements be made by the Harding administration by which money due the roads from the government may be paid without delay.

Strong endorsements are being received at Harding headquarters for the appointment of C. H. Huston, of Chattanooga, Tennessee, as secretary of commerce. It is known that Mr. Harding has a high regard for Mr. Huston and his ability, but no indication has been given that any proffer has been made him.

On the Job.

St. Augustine, Fla., Feb. 11.—Callers offering advice on many subjects poured in on President-Elect Warren G. Harding here, yesterday, as soon as he opened his office after a three-weeks vacation. So long was the waiting line of prominent men and women asking for the president-elect's time that he made little progress with his correspondence or with any of the other accumulated business with which his desk is piled high.

On the other hand, if the day's conversation produce any definite development toward solution of the big problems ahead, there was nothing on the surface to indicate it. Despite the influx of visitors, however, Mr. Harding slipped away during the afternoon for a game of golf. A workout on the links is expected to be a part of his daily routine during his stay here, for he will insist on coming to the presidency in good physical trim.

Although there was nothing, yesterday, pointing to decisive developments in regard to the cabinet, the day did not pass without its offering of advice on the subject. Senator Lawrence C. Phipps, of Colorado, brought to Mr. Harding's attention his friend C. C. Dorsey, a Colorado lawyer, whose qualification he

PARDON BILL IS DEFEATED

Feared Measure Would Become a Political Weapon.

SENATE COMMITTEE BURIES MEASURE

Another Bill, Creating a New Board, Expected.

Believed State Legislators Will Take Action To Change Present Pardoning Agencies. Some Abuses Are Cited.

Columbus, Feb. 11. — Legislation to establish a board of pardons consisting of the secretary of state, the attorney general and a third member to be named by the governor, died suddenly yesterday.

A bill to substitute such a board for the board of clemency was introduced Tuesday by Senator Frank E. Whittemore, of Akron, majority floor leader. It was referred to the committee on reorganization, of which Senator Whittemore is chairman, and yesterday, on motion of Senator Joseph J. Rowe, of Cleveland, it was taken from that committee and sent to the committee on prisons and prison reforms, where it will stay.

As one result of this development there probably will be early action in the house next week on the Gorrell bill, which not only abolishes the board of clemency, but makes radical changes in the law intended to correct weaknesses that permit lenient treatment of criminals.

Unlike the Whittemore bill, the Gorrell measure goes to different phases of the situation, rather than to the clemency board alone.

The Whittemore bill, to the extent that it placed the parole power with officers directly responsible to the people, had the approval of Governor Harry L. Davis, and to this extent was regarded as an administration measure and part of the plan for reorganization of the state government.

Fear Political Effect.

Opposition to the bill, however, developed to such a degree that its passage seemed extremely unlikely and, although it carried the emergency clause that would have made it effective upon signature by the governor, it never will be brought to the floor of the senate for discussion or a vote, according to members of that body.

Opposition to the Whittemore bill was based on the charge that, under it, elective officers would be able to build up a political machine by dispensing recommendations for pardons and paroles, much as appointive offices are filled and with political expediency in mind.

This opposition developed entirely apart from any suspicion that those back of the bill or concerned in it had such a purpose in mind.

An open break between the governor and the senate or any alignment

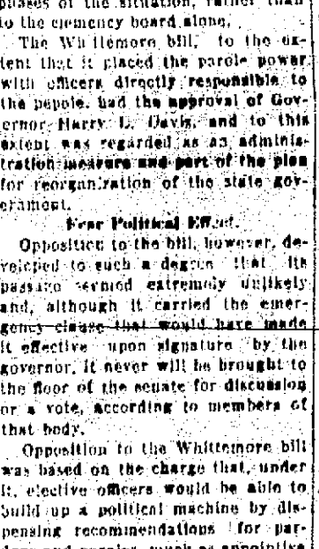
GODMOTHER TO MANY HUNGARIAN BABIES



Miss Alice Kauser, of New York, whose generosity to needy babies of Budapest, Hungary, has won her the gratitude of thousands in that stricken land. Miss Kauser, herself a Hungarian, has sent innumerable food drafts to women of that city who were about to become mothers. Hundreds of letters have come back to Miss Kauser laden with gratitude, and in each of the letters she was told that the family had presumed her permission to make her godmother of the new citizen of Hungary.

AN UNUSUAL COINCIDENCE

Mansfield, Feb. 11.—A most unusual coincidence happened among undertakers of this city, this week, when three of them buried their fathers. H. H. Beelman, father of Charles Beelman, of the firm of Beelman & Sharp, died Sunday, Charles Schroer, Sr., head of the firm of Schroer & Son, died Tuesday and James Sharp, father of E. L. Sharp, died the following day.

BRITAIN CAN'T AFFORD RACE FOR SEA POWER

Sir Philip Gibbs, noted British war correspondent, appearing before the house committee in Washington, declared that England can not afford and will not undertake a race with the United States for sea power. Sir Philip told the naval committee that the American navy was not regarded "as a menace" in England. He said the people of Great Britian would greet with approval an invitation from the United States for a disarmament conference.

NEW CAMPAIGN BEGUN TODAY

Rail Companies Plan To Reduce Operating Expense.

ASK CONFERENCES WITS UNSKILLED

To Start Controversy Between Men and Management and Get New Hearing.

Chicago, Feb. 11.—The railroads, refused redress by the United States railway wage board, were planning a new campaign, today, to reduce operating costs through chopping wages of employes. The first test case of the new campaign is before the board and a decision that will set a precedent for future procedure is expected, today.

Thwarted in their effort to achieve an abrogation of the national agreements that would automatically, the roads contend, have cut $300,000,000 from their operating expenses, the roads now plan, it was learned today, to ask conferences with their unskilled employes over wage reductions, in order that the matter of cuts for common labor may be brought before the war-labor board in the form of definite controversies between men and management.

Action of the board upon the petition of officials of the Atlanta, Birmingham & Atlantic railroad, which is now before it, will furnish the index decision. The road asks permission to cut wages to employes to avert financial distress. The employes contend that the issue involved is one of financial relief and therefore, is properly a matter for the interstate commerce commission, rather than the labor board to adjudicate.

Another Cut.

Pittsburgh, Feb. 11.—The Joseph Reep agency, Standard Oil purchasers, announced at 9:30 o'clock, this morning a fifty-cent cut in the price of the five best grades of crude oil. The new prices follow: Pennsylvania, $4.25; Cabell, $2.96; Somerset, heavy, $2.25; Somerset, light, $2.50; Ragland, $1.25.

Congratulations.

Milan, Ohio, Feb. 11.—Villagers here, Edison's birthplace, joined in a congratulatory telegram to Thomas A. Edison, this morning, the occasion being his seventy-fourth birthday.

THE MARKETING BILL IS PASSED

Ohio Senate Takes Action on the Brand Measure.

SCHOOL REVENUE LAW IN DANGER

Teachers' Pensions Are Also Strongy Opposed.

Repeal Measures Introduced by Senators Bender and Cornell—Proceedings of the Ohio State Legislature.

Columbus, Feb. 11.—Bills to repeal the school revenue law and teachers' pension system of the last general assembly were introduced by Senator Bender, of Cuyahoga and Cornell, of Wayne, respectively.

The Bender bill is based on opposition of populous counties to paying their present share toward financing schools in districts with low property duplicates. It would abolish the present state levy of 1.8 mills, returned to counties on the basis of attendance and teachers' pay; have school districts levy up to 5.75 mills and provide for a state levy of 1.20 mills to help weak districts.

Next Wednesday has been set aside for a taxation session in the house. Those are the measures to be voted on: Griswold bill to limit bonded indebtedness; Griswold resolution to submit a constitutional amendment in less detailed form to limit debt, and the Taft bill to permit suspension of the Smith one-per-cent. law for three years by a vote of the people.

Silver, of Preble, introduced a bill to carry into effect the Shinn amendment of 1918 exempting real estate mortgages from taxation. It provides a filing fee of one-half per cent. of the face of the mortgage, with a similar charge every five years thereafter for that part of the mortgage remaining.

Marketing Bill Passed.

The senate passed the Brand bill to exempt farmers' marketing organizations from the restrictions of the Valentine anti-trust law. Not a vote was cast against it. Its course in the house is expected to be just as smooth.

"Half the farmers of Ohio now belong to one or more of the farm organizations," said Brand. "If you don't pass this bill a farm bureau membership isn't worth the paper it is written on."

Saying he didn't want to condemn all middlemen, Brand said some way must be found to eliminate profiteering and wasteful middlemen if farmers are to receive a fair price and consumers are to receive food at fair prices.

The bill makes such organizations subject to control of the public utilities commission. They must not restrain trade or lessen competition unduly, which is defined to mean receiving more than "cost of production plus a reasonable profit."

To Lay Foundation.

Columbus, Feb. 11.—Although admitting that his bill may not be constitutional, Representative Sparks, Montgomery country, has introduced an emergency measure seeking to stimulate home building, by providing that all residences built between now and December 31, next, shall be exempt from taxation for five years. He expressed the hope that his bill would lay the foundation for legislation which will boost home building.

The house has decided, to vote, next Tuesday afternoon, on the question of passing the Harding state constabulary bill.

Wednesday afternoon, the house members are to vote on the question of passing the Taft bill, permitting suspension of the Smith-one-per-cent. tax act for three years, by a vote of the people; the Griswold resolution, proposing a constitutional amendment limiting bonded indebtedness and the Griswold bill, relative to bonded indebtedness.

Representative Silver, Preble county, introduced a bill seeking to exempt real-estate mortgages from taxation, providing a filing fee of 1-2 per cent. of the face of the mortgage, with a similar charge every five years afterwards on that part of the mortgage remaining.

Market Weak.

New York, Feb. 11.—Weakness, after the decision of the labor board, yesterday, featured a dull market, today.

General Strike.

Rome, Feb. 11.—A general strike has been declared at Trieste, according to advices from that city, today.

STAR WITNESS CHANGES FRONT

Miss Neely Declares McGannon Is Innocent.

SHE REFUSES TO ANSWER QUESTIONS

Says She Fears She Will Incriminate Herself by Giving Further Testimony.

Cleveland, Feb. 11.—Dramatically declaring that she would answer no other questions, Miss May B. Neely, star witness for the state at the former trial of William H. McGannon, chief justice of the municipal court, today declared that the judge is innocent of the charge against him, when she appeared as a witness for the state at his second trial, upon indictment charging him with having shot his friend, Harold C. Gagy.

"Judge McGannon is not guilty of the murder of Harold Gagy," was her reply to the questions propounded by Prosecutor Edward C. Stanton.

The state's case, thus thrown into confusion by the defection of the chief witness, the prosecutor sought to use her testimony given at the former trial as a basis for further examination. Objections to this course were immediately entered by Attorney W. H. Boyd, chief defense counsel.

"I refuse to answer any questions, on the ground that they might disgrace or incriminate me," said Miss Neely, time and again, as the state's attorney fired question after question at her.

Judge Homer G. Powell, presiding, sustained the objections of the defense, after the witness had told him privately her reasons for fearing that her testimony might be injurious to herself. A whispered colloquy between the judge and witness was held and she then resumed the stand.

"You need not answer," he announced and every objection was sustained.

The witness was kept on the stand until the court adjourned for the noon recess, at 11:30. It was the intention of the prosecution to continue her examination when court reconvened in the afternoon.

HAYS BIRTHPLACE MAY YET BE A SHRINE

Standard Oil Company Makes Offer to Delaware.

Delaware, O., Feb. 11.—The Standard Oil company, which recently purchased for $8,000 the birthplace of Rutherford B. Hayes here, today notified the Delaware Commercial club that it would donate the site to the city or any organization that would want to preserve it. The Standard Oil company wants in return another available site for a filling station and all the civic organizations and the Commercial club of the city have begun active preparations to raise funds to provide the suitable site. The Hayes birthplace is located on east William street and is a two-story brick structure. It was bought by the Sandard from William Miller, of Delaware.

CINCINNATI MAN HELD TO ANSWER

Chocolate Manufacturer Charged with Arson.

Cincinnati, Feb. 11.—Walter M. Pfeiffer, president of the Janet Chocolate company, is today under arrest on a charge of arson, after having confessed to the police, last night, that he started six fires in his factory, last Saturday night. Pfeiffer said he started fires on four floors of the factory, by igniting piles of rubbish and paper, locked the front doors and fled. Pfeiffer also stated he had removed considerable goods before he started the fires. The factory was insured for $18,500. About $1,000 damage to building was caused by the blaze.

NEW WAGE BILL IS INTRODUCED

House Asked for Speedy Action on Measure.

PROPOSED BOARD WOULD FIX WAGES

Bill Is Aimed To Secure Proper Wages for Women and Children in Ohio.

Columbus, Feb. 11.—Seeking to speed up action, Representative Schrimper, Hamilton county, today, introduced in the house a duplicate, substantially, to the minimum wage bill introduced in the senate, early in the session, by Senator Reynolds, Cleveland. The senate, January 12, referred Senator Reynolds' measure to the senate labor committee. The bill continues in the hands of this committee.

Both Senator Reynolds and Representative Schrimper propose that the governor appoint a minimum-wage commission, comprising one woman and two men, representing if practicable, the employers employes and the general public.

This commission is to make a statewide survey to determine whether women and children employed receive adequate wages. If the wages are inadequate, the commission is to establish a wage board composed of three representatives of employes, three representing employers and three representing the public. The board is to determine adequate wages.

Representative Schrimper, also, introduced a bill providing that members of boards of education shall be nominated by petition. The bill would remove these officials from the primaries.

Receiving second reading, the house referred to the taxation committee the Silver bill, providing for th listing of personal property for taxation and for the exemption of stocks in companies and seeking to exempt real-estate mortgages from taxation.

Representative Holloway, Trumbull county, offered a bill providing for a police court at Warren.

The senate did not meet today.

Both the senate and house will reconvene at 5 p. m. Monday.

M'ADOO ON WAY HOME FROM MEXICO

Denies Offer To Take Charge of Mexican Railways.

San Antonio, Texas, Feb. 11.—Denying that he had gone to Mexico to look over national railway lines and consider an offer as director general of Mexican railroads, William G. McAdoo, former secretary of the treasury and former director general of American railroads, passed through here, today on his way northward, after a week in Mexico.

"My visit to Mexico was purely a pleasure trip," declared McAdoo "It has no significance, political or otherwise and most emphatically had nothing to do with the talking over of the national directorship of Mexican railroads.

"The reports that my visit was for such a purpose is ridiculous. Everybody seems to be giving me a job that I have never heard anything about before."

Mrs. W. C. Goolsby, of Indianapolis, is visiting at the homes of Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Emberton and Mr. and Mrs. W. F. McElhowney of Toledo avenue.

BUT SEVENTEEN DAYS ARE LEFT

End of Present Session of Congress Near.

REPUBLICAN LEADERS EXTREMELY BUSY

Trying To Work Out Program To Permit Passage of Number of Important Bills.

Washington, Feb. 11.—With only seventeen legislative days of the present session left, Republican leaders of the senate are, today, trying to work out a program that will permit passage of some of the important measures before that body.

The chances of the army and navy appropriation bills at the present session are regarded as slender, but leaders are hopeful the senate may suddenly get down to business and by holding night sessions, dispose of those bills.

Both bills are certain to lead to considerable discussion, however. If only because the former provides for an army of 150,000 and the latter, a continuation of the present naval construction program.

Today, the senate buckled down to another appropriations bill—the legislative, executive and judicial, senators supporting the emergency tariff bill having agreed to allow it to go over until tomorrow. It is the purpose of Senator Harrison, Democrat, Mississippi, to insist upon early consideration of pending immigration legislation and a hot fight on that is expected.

Tariff Measure.

Senator Penrose, of Pennsylvania, chairman of the senate finance committee, said the tariff measure would be passed by next Tuesday, or Wednesday, but other Republican leaders do not agree with him.

Senator Penrose also said it was his purpose to call a meeting of his committee, soon, to take final action on the soldiers' aid, or bonus bill, which, he added, he hoped would be passed at this session.

In the house, the navy appropriations bill had the right-of-way again today, leaders of that body planning to pass it not later than Thursday night.

An effort is also being made in the house for early action on the packers' regulation bill and on the cold-storage bill.

The general deficiency bill is expected to be reported toward the close of the session and in the meantime, house leaders are hopeful of ridding the house calendar of a number of bills after the navy bill is out of the way.

TAX COLLECTIONS ON THURSDAY $44,011.14

Books Will Be Turned Over to Auditor.

Tax collections in the office of County treasurer Homer Smith Thursday the last day of the extended tax paying period, amounted to $44,011.14.

The treasurer's tax books have been closed and will be turned over to the county auditor, when delinquent penalties will be added.

No Fox Hunt.

The fox hunt of the Mennette Fox club was again postponed Thursday, this time indefinitely, on account of the weather. The hunt, proposed on account of the killing of livestock by the foxes, was postponed last week until yesterday.

STATE SPRINGS BIG SURPRISE

Nolles Two Indictments in Williamson Case.

TWO PRISONERS GIVEN LIBERTY

Each Enters Protest and Expresses Desire To Be Tried and Acquitted.

Mingo County Courthouse, Williamson, W. Va., Feb. 11—The state sprung a surprise just before adjournment of the brief morning session of the gunfight trial, when it announced that it desired to nolle the indictments against two of the twenty-one defendants—N. H. Atwood and B. K. Page.

"Just a moment!" came the voice of Atwood, who jumped up from his chair in defendants' row. He stepped over to J. J. Conniff, chief of counsel, whispered a few words in his ear. The International News service correspondent, sitting close by, heard him say:

"I don't want to have it nolled. I want to be tried and acquitted."

At the same time, Page—the only colored man among the accused, had given similar whispered advice to counsel.

Conniff announced: "Those two defendants desire to be tried."

After considerable argument, Judge Bailey announced: "The court is not going to take a chance on having anything done that will make it necessary to continue this case. The nolle stands. Mr. Atwood and Mr. Page, you are no longer defendants. You can go home."

Atwood hastened again to confer with his counsel. He spoke in a low, pleading voice—a man who, accused of murder, insisted upon being only acquitted by a jury. They told him that "what the court says goes."

So, finally, he went back of the railing that has been separating him from liberty. No man escaping a trial which would mean hanging if found guilty, ever stepped back to freedom with such a sad face. He looked over the nineteen men who have been his companions in jail and in court—the men with whom he wished with all his heart to "see this thing through."

Meanwhile, Page had quietly stepped back of the rail. He is a plain, retiring sort of negro. He did not protest a second time, but there was no sign of gladness on his face.

Thus the original roll of twenty-four indicted has been reduced to nineteen.

E. L. SCHMELZER DIES AT HIS RICHWOOD HOME

Death Is Due to Neuralgia of the Heart.

Richwood, O., Feb. 11.—[Special]—E. L. Schmelzer, aged sixty years, died suddenly this morning of neuralgia of the heart at his home here. He was apparently in his usual health this morning and had been up street yesterday.

Mr. Schmelzer was a retired farmer and had resided in the vicinity of Richwood the past thirty years. IN COMMON PLEAS Wants Former Husband Punished.

Through Critsinger, Gittler, & Strelitz Lou E. Redding has filed in the common pleas court a motion charging William E. Redding with contempt of court and asking that he be cited to appear and show cause why he should not be punished for contempt. Mrs. Redding was granted a divorce from William E. Redding March 26, 1926, at which time the court approved an agreement for settlement of property rights and alimony. Mrs. Redding charges her former husband with failing to pay alimony according to the agreement. An order was issued by the court for Redding to appear Tuesday morning, February 15, at 10 o'clock.

Election To Take.

Election of the plaintiff to take the premises at appraisement was approved in the common pleas court this morning in the partition suit of John P. Ruth against Margaret M. Olds. The sheriff was ordered to make the deed to the plaintiff. Distribution of the proceeds was deferred.

Sets Up Fourth Interest.

Through H. E. Hill, the answer of Emma Kell was filed in the common pleas court this morning in the partition suit of George F. Luson against John F. Stengel and others. She states she is a daughter and one of the heirs at law of John Stengel and owns one-fourth of the real estate described in the petition. She joins with the petitioner is asking partition of the premises.

Ida Settles Settles.

The case of Crissinger & Young, contractors, against Ida Settles has been settled in Justice Ernest G. Wideman's court. Crissinger & Young sued for $95 alleged due them for labor and material in wiring a house and they attached the household goods of the defendant.

Answer Is Filed.

The answer of the defendants, Olda Foos and Effie Odessa Hart, was filed Thursday afternoon in the common pleas court in the partition suit of Zilow Foos against Olda Foos and others. The answering defendants state they are the children of Nathan Foos, deceased, and are each entitled to a one-eighth interest in the real estate in question, 150 acres in Claridon township. They ask that their interest in the premises be set off to them and a receiver be appointed to rent th property during the pendency of the suit.

M'NEAL IS APPOINTED AS JUVENILE JUDGE

Probate Judge L. B. McNeal today was appointed juvenile judge for the next four years at a meeting of Judge Grant E. Mouser and Judge McNeal. The meeting was held in compliance with the statutes which provide the judges of the county shall meet and select one of their number as juvenile judge.

Punting

BY T. E. JONES
The University of Wisconsin

Any boy can acquire accuracy and fairly good distance in punting by practice and study of form. Care should be taken early in the season to avoid too much practice, as the leg is liable to become sore and dead from overwork.

Remember that the punt is the greatest and best play in football. Accuracy, distance, and height are necessary.

The spiral punt is the one to learn. In this method the ball goes end first, reducing the friction, goes further, and is harder to catch.

Form

Get a good swing from the hip, straight leg, toe pointed. Emphasize height so that the ends will have time to cover the receiver. The center should aim to pass the ball at the punter's waist. The ball should be kicked well out from the body. There are two methods used:

1. On receiving the ball, the punter should be 10 or 12 yards back of the center, should receive the ball at the waist. Step back, then step backward with the left foot, then take a long step with the left for a kick.

2. A short step with the right, then a long step with the left and kick. The long step with the left foot is necessary to get a powerful kick.

The first method is the better as it is quicker and the kicker does not approach the defense.

Points in Competition

A study of wind conditions should be made. If punting with the wind, kick high to enable the wind to carry the ball further down the field. When against a strong wind, the ball should be driven low.

The punter should try to place the punt as far away from the best handler of punts as possible. He should regulate his punt in speed and height to suit the speed of the ends. It is well to punt the ball out of bounds when you can get the full distance.

A RENSSALEAR MAN INDICTED

For Murder of Parents on an Indiana Farm.

BODIES FOUND IN RUINS OF HOME

Man Held for Murder Is Prominent in Farm Oganization Work of State.

Rensselaer, Indiana, Feb. 11.—Ralph Davis, treasurer of the Newton County Farm bureau, is charged with the murder of his parents, in two secret indictments, Judge George Williams, of the Newton county court, announced today, following Davis' arrest in Chicago, on an embezzlement charge.

Davis' arrest has caused a furore in Morocco, Indiana, his home town. Davis was held in the Jasper county jail here, today, but Judge Williams stated that he will be taken to Morocco, today, where he will be held without bond.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Davis were burned to death in a mysterious fire which destroyed their farmhouse, early on the morning of January 21. At 5 o'clock that morning, Davis ran to the home of a neighbor, a quarter of a mile away and called for help. When rescuers reached the burning home, however, it was a mass of flames and only the charred remains of his father and mother were found. Examination showed, however, that many bones of both bodies were broken. The head of Mrs. Davis was found crushed, more than fifteen feet away from where the bodies were lying.

At the inquest, the questioning of Davis was so direct that he protested repeatedly, but made no admissions. After a long conference, the coroner's jury returned a verdict of death by accident.

Davis' resignation as treasurer of the farm bureau was asked, January 4, when he is said to have admitted taking $1,200 of the bureau's funds.

Called to explain, Davis, who is thirty-four years old, threatened to kill anyone who spoke a word against him, but finally admitted taking the money, investing it in cattle, including the purchase of Pledge Duke de Kol Welserip, "the greatest bull in Indiana."

Davis and his father reached an open break after his resignation, but a reconciliation, later, was effected by a sister, Mrs. Frederick Fronchrib, of Indianapolis.

When Davis vanished from Morocco, two weeks ago, an investigation was started which resulted in the murder and embezzlement indictments.

STORM OF PROTEST STARTED IN PARIS

Song Insulting Americans Banned by Police.

Paris, Feb. 11.—A storm of protest was aroused in theatrical circles, today, by a police order forbidding a comedian at the Olympia, one of the biggest music halls in Paris, from singing "Messieurs les Americains," on the ground that the song is a needless insult to France's ally.

The song tells of the brave charges of the Americans at the Folies Bergere in Paris and declared that "the Americans won the war at the Olympia, to the tune of a jazz band." It goes on in what was intended as a comic vein, to say that "while we—the French—fought Champin des Dames—a battlefield on the Aisne river that saw bloody fighting—you—the Americans—played with the girls in Paris."

There is another paragraph which says:

"Why don't you—the Americans—do one fine action? We—the French—don't owe you anything and anyhow, you are already rich."

The song hits especially at President Wilson, but praises American Red Cross nurses and the American adopted French war waifs. The theatrical magazine, "Paris Music Hall," says that the song was loudly applauded and demands that the police lift the censorship. The publishers of the song are advertising it as "a piece of music that is barred by the police," thus capitalizing the ban by arousing the public curiosity.

SELECTION OF TEMPORARY PLACE FOR SCHOOL KIDS

Campbell School Pupils May Go to Green Camp Township.

Selection of temporary school building to house the pupils of the Campbell school will be made at a meeting of the county board of education in the offices of Lippincott brothers Saturday morning. The Campbell school was destroyed by fire Thursday morning.

It is expected that a vacant school building in Green Camp township, two miles from the burned school, will be secured. However, arrangements will have to be made to furnish transportation for twenty to twenty-five pupils if this building is used.

MARJORY ALICE HALL, INFANT, DIES TODAY

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Hall, Herman Street.

Marjory Alice Hall, five-day-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Hall, No. 616 Herman street, died of inanition this morning at 5:30 o'clock. The child leaves her parents and a brother, Wayne Emerson Hall.

Private services will be conducted at the home at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon by Rev. F. E. Hawes. Interment will be made in the Marion cemetery.

LOCAL MENTION

Mrs. Viola Miller, of Columbus will be present at the afternoon and evening meeting, Sunday, at the First Spiritualist church.

J. H. Maish, who recently returned to Marion from Cleveland, has opened an advertising office in the Leetonia building.

Miss Tillie Barkley, of No. 729 Delaware avenue, underwent an operation this morning at the City hospital. She is reported as doing nicely.

Elder Joseph Shellhaas, of Elgin, will occupy the pulpit Saturday afternoon and evening at the Seventh-Day Adventist church on north State street. Elder Shellhaas will also preach at the Sunday evening service.

A. Foos, residing west of the city, had his left knee badly bruised when he was thrown from a sled at the corner of State and Center streets about 9:20 o'clock this morning. The sled runner caught in the street-car tracks when Mr. Foos turned his team at the corner.

The members of the Eagles' lodge, their families and friends, enjoyed a dance and card party, Thursday evening, in their hall on east Center street. Arrangements were made for a dance and card party to be given next Thursday evening, in the hall.

Mrs. A. B. Sherwood was hostess to the members of the Alsophone society, of the First Spiritualist church, Wednesday afternoon, at her home on Park boulevard. The time was passed with needlework and the hostess served a tea.

Miss Bliss Hoagland was hostess to the members of the T. O. L. club Thursday evening at her home on Latourette street. Plans were made for a theater party to be given soon. In a contest the awards were given to Miss Crystal Brobeck and Miss Lola Markel. Music was contributed during the evening by Miss Crystal Brobeck, Miss Lola Markel and Miss Bliss Hoagland.

GEDDES TALKS OF INTERVIEW

Gives No Hint of American and English Conflict

SAYS NO SANE MAN COULD WISH FOR WAR

English Papers Present Views of British Ambassador to the United States.

London, Feb. 11.—The London Times, today, printed the following:

The United Press states that Sir Auckland Geddes—the British ambassador to America—has authorized the following statement.

"In view of the alarmist and wholly incorrect statements upon Anglo-American relations, published in America and said to be based upon a United Press message, the United Press representatives saw Sir Auckland Geddes in order to apologize to him for the inaccurate presentation of their story and to tell him they were astounded by messages coming from New York."

In an interview with the Daily Express, Webb Palmer, London correspondent of the United Press said:

"Reports sent back to England entirely misrepresent our cable to the United States. Our cable seems to have been garbled and have been given a totally different idea from them. In reports sent back, I can recognize only a few words here and there. Before I can say anything more, I want to see the message in print in American newspapers."

According to the United Press statement in the Times, Sir Auckland Geddes states that his only mention of war was as follows:

"Surely no sane man could wish to bring about war between the two countries."

Bishop Improved.

EW EVIDENCE IS DEVELOPED

vestigation of Bergdoll Case Decided Upon.

OMMITTEE SEEKS NECESSARY POWER

ould Determine How Draft Dodger Escapes from a Military Guard.

ington, D. C., Feb. 11.—After develop some of the high spots in the se of former Cleveland Bergdoll, a house military committee decided ask congress for authority to find t how the rich Philadelphia draft dger escaped from a military guard d made his way to Germany.

The committee voted to go to the rom of the case after hearing Dis- t Attorney Charles D. McAver of hiladelphia, who declared there was evidence to justify the charge that rood connected with the war de- rtment had been corrupted with rgdoll money.

The name of D. Clarence Gibboney, nsel for Bergdoll, was brought to the proceedings, and McAver was ive in asserting the belief that bboney was drowned in Mexico, de- pite an anonymous report received the committee that he was alive.

Chairman Kahn, who introduced a solution last May providing for ap- intment of a special committee to duct the Bergdoll investigation, nounced that enough evidence had en developed to indicate the neces- y of action at this time.

Recent statements cabled from rmany by the former military pris- er prompted the committee to re- wed effort in view of the runaway's arge that he had obtained from the easury department and concealed in e woods $1,000,000 in gold to be used effecting his release through brib- y of government officials.

The more important thread to be llowed, members said, was the abil- y of the prisoner's lawyers to ob- in his release under guard for the rpose of proceeding to the hills of aryland to find and dig up his pot gold. It was while he was out on e golden chase that Bergdoll, stop- ng over in Philadelphia to visit his ther, indicted with him, eluded his ldier guards and slipped away in e same automobile he had used any times for highway speeding.

McAver testified there was no ubt of the fact that Bergdoll got e gold from the treasury. In ex- ressing belief that no high officials the war department had been cor- pted, he said he was equally posi- ve that the draft dodger had not caped through political influence.

SAINTS SWAMPED BY AQUINAS HIGH SCHOOL

Score Is Forty-Four to Seven, Last Night.

Aquinas High school basket-ball five, of Columbus, defeated St. Mary's team, forty-four to seven, in a game played Thursday evening on the Y. M. C. A. gym floor. It was much like a practice game for the Aquinas team which started scoring at the opening whistle and averaged a field goal every two minutes throughout the game. It was a case of going outside their class for the locals to play a team of this caliber but the game was scheduled early in the season and before the visitors had shown their speed in the cage game. Geygan and Donnelly, left handed forwards for Columbus, played up to their reputations and scored all but two of their points. Line-up:

Aquinas, 44	Pos.	St. Marys, 7
Geygan	l.f.	Bintz
Donnelly	r.f.	McFarland
Ryan	c.	Korte
Kintz	l.g.	Gillespie
Gallagher	r.g.	Kruskamp

Substitutes, Specht for Gallagher, McNervey for Specht, Andrews for McFarland, Snyder for Andrews; field goals, Geygan 10, Donnelly 9, Bintz 2, Ryan, Kruskamp; foul goals, Geygan 2, Bintz.

LOCAL FARM BUREAU UNITS IN TOWNSHIPS

Each Is To Have One, It Is Decided.

Local farm bureau units are to be organized in each township in Marion county as a result of the action of the executive board of the Marion County Farm bureau at its meeting Thursday afternoon. The executive committee directed that this be done.

Fifteen units, ten of them entirely new organizations, will be formed within a short time. Five of the units were formed last year and these are to be reorganized.

Arrangements also were made for a clean-up of the membership campaign beginning next Monday. Six solicitors will be sent here by the state farm bureau federation and it is expected that the clean-up work will be completed next week.

RICHWOOD ELEVATOR TO CHANGE HANDS

Farmers' Exchange Will Take It Over March 1.

The Richwood Farmers' Exchange company, an organization composed of farmers of this community, have acquired the real estate and business of the Richwood Grain company, and will take over the business about March 1. Negotiations for the purchase of one of the two Richwood elevators have been going on for some time, and the decision was made at a recent meeting of the directors of the farmers' company. The organization has been incorporated with a capital stock of $100,000. Its membership numbers 200, all of whom are directly interested in agriculture, says the Richwood Gazette.

Directors of the Farmers' Exchange company are O. W. Frum, Watt Howison, Charles Chapman, Shannon Burgoon, Charles Parrott, J. P. Sidle, Frank McDaniel, Charles Wright and E. B. Bumgarner. The officers are O. W. Frum, president; J. P. Sidle, vice president; Frank McDaniel, treasurer; E. B. Bumgarner, secretary.

CITY IN BRIEF

Lincoln's Birthday Observed—Appropriate programs in observance of Lincoln's birthday were given in most of the rooms of the public schools today.

Meeting of Druids—There was a good attendance at the meeting of Druids held Thursday evening in their hall on west Columbia street. The degree work was postponed until the next meeting in one week. The officers and degree teams will meet Sunday afternoon for practice.

Machinists Meet—At a largely-attended meeting of the International Association of Machinists, held in the Junior Order hall, Thursday evening, a large class was initiated and arrangements made for a special meeting to be held next Thursday evening when candidates for the national vice president will be balloted on. Arrangements were also made for a large fund to take care of any members who might be out of employment.

Outlook for Spring Building—The carpenters' local union, No. 976, held an open meeting with the contractors of the city last evening in the Fahey hall on north Main street. Informal talks were given by the members of both organizations on the present labor conditions and what the prospects were for the spring building season. According to G. S. Eyre, secretary of the carpenter's union, the prospects for a good season will be good, as there is a general shortage of homes and also the price of lumber has come down, he said, to the extent that the average person can build again.

Plans for Play—The Latin department of the Harding High school will give a play, "Dido and Aeneas," February 19 in the departmental school auditorium. The play is a translation and interpretation of Book 4, from Virgil's Aeneas," which is read by the Latin students in their senior year. They will be assisted by the High school orchestra and the girls of the physical training department who will stage several fancy drills and dances. Some of the principal characters will be taken by Miriam Smart, Louise Neal, Ruth Starr, Pearl Rinnert, Mary Pennock, Frederick Almendinger, Thomas Cooper, Marion Spencer, Paul Roush, Edwin Knachel and Arthur Messenger. The Latin teachers, particularly Miss Ola Almendinger and Miss Corinne Rosebrook, are coaching the players and it is believed that the play will be one of the biggest and best affairs of the scholastic year.

High School Assemblies—Assemblies were held in both main halls of the Harding High school this morning. In the west hall a Lincoln program was given by student talent. The program began with the student body singing "America." Following this the High school orchestra gave two selections, "The Star-Spangled Banner" and "Feather Your Nest." Miss Marian Johnston then very splendidly recited "The Perfect Tribute," by Mary Raymond Shipman Andrews. The program was ended with Floyd Burch reciting Walt Whitman's famous poem, "Oh, Captain, My Captain." Student Manager Hauchman gave a few announcements and remarks as to tonight's basket-ball game and following this several cheers were given for the school and team. Fred Almendinger, editor of the school publication, gave an announcement as to the "Quiver" payments. The meeting ended with the student body singing the school song. In the east hall, Rev. C. L. Allen gave a very interesting and instructive talk to the freshmen. Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Reep, who are now assisting in evangelistic services at the Calvary Evangelical church, gave several nice musical numbers, both vocal and instrumental.

A reading was given by Mrs. B. E. Bumgarner, entitled a "Thankful Heart." "In the Light of a Thankful Heart" a monologue, was given by Mrs. O. S. Laughbaum. A reading by Mrs. G. F. Sands entitled, "Without Spot," was given.

There was an exceptionally good attendance.

Epworth Home Society.

There was a good attendance at the meeting of the Woman's Foreign Missionary society, of the Epworth M. E. church, Thursday afternoon, in the church parlors. "Every Man in His Own Tongue" the third chapter of the text book, "Bible and Missions" was given by Mrs. E. Strong. Following a song, "Sunshine Cometh Soon," Mrs. W. J. Ewes read a paper, "Maneuvers Assimilating Actual Battle Conditions, Carried Out in Highly Successful Manner, by A. F. G. Doughboy." The Mystery box was conducted by Mrs. E. J. McKinley. One new member was enrolled. A social hour followed the program.

Westminster Guild Elects.

The members of Westminster guild, King's Daughters, met Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. David Coble, of Jefferson street, with a good attendance. The following officers were elected; Mrs. J. A. Stevens, president; Miss Amy Turner, vice president; Mrs. Frank Creviston, secretary; Mrs. Ray King, treasurer. Mrs. Fred Sauer was appointed chairman. Mrs. Henry R. Schaffner was appointed chairman of literature.

Mrs. Coble and the assisting hostesses, Mrs. C. O. Phallen, Mrs. Fred Sauer, Mrs. A. R. Tennis and Miss Betty Morton, served tea, after which a program was enjoyed. Mrs. O. W. Gamble reviewed the fifth chapter of the study book, "The Near East, the Crossroads of the World," after which Mrs. Samuel Lippincott, a guest of the guild, gave a reading on "Assyria."

It was decided to study home missions next year. The time of meetings has been changed to the second and fourth Thursday of each month and the guild will meet in two weeks at the home of Mrs. Ray R. King, of Lafayette street.

Building Committee Meets.

A meeting of the building committee of the Emanuel Baptist church was held following the Wednesday evening prayer service and plans were made to proceed at once with the building of the bell tower and one Sunday-school room. The work will be completed in the near future.

Woman's Board of Missions.

Mrs. Frank Collins, of north State street, was hostess to the members of the Woman's Board of Missions of the Central Christian church, Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Amy Dripps was an assistant hostess. The Bible study was conducted by Mrs. M. L. Buckley. The topic for study was "China" and an interesting talk on the subject was given by Mrs. George Pickering. A number of talks were given by the members. Mrs C. E Clutter had charge of the "Hidden Answers."

It was announced at this meeting that Mary A. Lyons, state secretary, had appointed Mrs. J. W. Thompson as secretary of the sixth district. Arrangements were also made for the members of the board to go to Galion, March 9, to attend the district conference. One new member was enrolled. Mrs. E. E. Monroe and Mrs Albert Dripps were guests of the board.

WOMAN'S AUXILIARY OF AMERICAN LEGION

Members Will Reach Fifty, with Applications Secured.

Sufficient applications to bring the membership of the Woman's auxiliary, of the American legion, to fifty were secured at the joint meeting of McGinnis post and the auxiliary at the armory Thursday night. There was an attendance of 100 in spite of the weather.

Commander G. V. Paschall, of McGinnis post, explained what has been done toward the organization of the auxiliary unit and stated the original sixteen members were called together simply to apply for permission to organize a local unit and elected officers to serve only until a regular meeting can be held. He also made it plain that all of those who signed applications last night, as well as those who apply at the first regular meeting, will be charter members of the auxiliary.

Mrs. Jane Conklin, of Columbus, a representative of the Franklin Post auxiliary, delivered an interesting address in which she dealt with the activities of auxiliary organizations in other places. She explained particularly what is being done by the Franklin county organization. She made an appeal for members and thirty-four, including three gold star members, presented applications and were admitted.

Cards were mailed today to all of the fifty members notifying them that the first regular meeting of the auxiliary will be held Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the assembly room at the library, when permanent officers will be elected and the constitution and by-laws adopted. The officers will be sworn in by Commander Paschall, of McGinnis post. These notices also urge members to extend an invitation to all eligibles to attend and become members at this meeting in order to be enrolled as charter members.

Courtney White, Ploy Murray and Hugh T. O'Connell, three stars of rare attainment, in a scene from "Nightie Night," which comes to the Grand Monday night, Feb. 14th. This new famous comedy was one of the outstanding hits during the year run at the New York Princess Theater. It being many years since New York took so completely to any play as it did to "Nightie Night." Over 500,000 people saw this snappy play during its long engagement in the metropolis, and it has not been estimated how many thousands more have seen it on its tour this season, an unbroken success, which is due no doubt, not alone to the remarkable quality of the wit and humor, but also to the excellence of the cast. It might be mentioned that the company that will be seen here is the same superb cast that has been scoring triumphs in Boston, Baltimore, Rochester, Buffalo, Toledo, Chicago, Dayton and Cincinnati. Seats Friday.—Adv.

New Spring Silks

In these days just before Spring is really with us, they seem to whisper of sunshine and of birds. Perhaps it is because we picture them made up in dainty summery looking frocks.

These silks were just received and are wondrously fine, yet the prices are far below last year's.

Dainty Taffetas

Every fashionable color is to be found here in these new silks. These wonderfully soft, beautiful qualities are shown in all the newest shades. $1.85.

Rich heavy Taffetas are $2.18, $2.95 and $3.25.

Special black Taffetas, soft chiffon finish, $1.48.

New Foulards

In styles that are different from the old time patterns, and so much prettier than designs which you have always associated with "Foulards."

This new shipment includes all of the new spring colors. $2.25.

Satin Crepes

All the rich colorings that are so popular just arrived and from the interest already shown it is advisable to make your selection early.

The assortment is wonderfully complete $3.50.

Canton Crepes

Of course, every woman knows that Canton Crepes are very popular just now. This was taken into consideration when these beautifully heavy weave silks were bought.

All the wanted shades are shown. $4.95.

Crepe de Chines

The wide assortment of Crepe de Chines are shown in all colors and the selection is as complete as shown in the large cities.

All these Crepe de Chines are extra weight and the price is only $1.95.

Silk Art Shirtings

Our showing of yard-wide silk and mercerized shirtings is creating such an interest that we want to call your attention to this wonderfully large selection of these striped patterns to choose from.

The price on these is only $1.00.

So Come Prepared to Buy, as Your Time is Limited

All of Marion's Furniture Stores have had a special sale of some kind since the first of the year 1921. You have probably been in to see them all and know their prices. Now is your chance to come in and make comparisons with our stock and prices; remembering that quality has more to do with buying Furniture than price alone.

This is the first time in the history of the Schoenberger Furniture Company that we have ever made such a cut in prices; due to the commercial unrest of the buying public at the present time. We sincerely and honestly know that the prices prevailing, during this sale, are much lower than they will be during the coming Spring and Summer market.

AGOSTA SCHOOL PUPILS CLEAR THE SUM OF $42

Which Is Applied to Payment on Victrola.

Agosta, O., Feb. 11.—[Special.]—The sum of $42 was cleared at the penny social given by the pupils of the school, Friday evening, in the school auditorium. The proceeds will be applied on the payment of the victrola which was recently purchased by the school.

The last number of the lecture course was given Saturday evening in the school auditorium, Elliott A. Boyle gave a lecture on "The Advantage of a Handicap."

The Ladies' Aid society, of the Methodist church, cleared the sum of $84 at the dinner and lunch served Tuesday, at the E. E. Drake sale, south of town.

"The Cooperation of Parents, Teachers and School-boards" will be discussed at the Parent-Teacher association meeting, to be held Tuesday afternoon, in the school building.

The girls of the High school domestic science class, assisted by Miss Carroll, teacher, entertained the members of the board, County Superintendent W. R. Herstand and assistant superintendent, Mr. Stage, and R. C. Billett at dinner Monday evening, at the school auditorium.

O'CALLAGHAN CAN NOT DELAY LONG

Must Quit Country Not Later Than February 13.

Washington, Feb. 11.—Although today is the date set by the department of labor for Donal J. O'Callaghan, lord mayor of Cork, to leave the United States, Alfred Hampton, assistant commissioner general of immigration, who is handling the case, said today that he knew of no order issued by Secretary Wilson fixing today as the late.

Following O'Callaghan's declaration, in Utica, New York, that he expected to stay in the United States another month, Secretary Wilson has informed senators the lord mayor will not be given an hour's grace after February 13.

OUIJA IS FAILURE AS A DETECTIVE

Empoyed by Woman in Marietta Murder Case.

Marietta, Feb. 11.—As a detective, Ouija is a sulphur promoter.

This was demonstrated when May Patterson, woman detective of Akron, came here to solve the mystery of the murder of Charles Reese, found brutally murdered and robbed in his home recently. Miss Patterson enlisted a gentleman of the neighborhood where the murder occurred as her assistant in obtaining pointers on the case from Ouija. The assistant talked—revealing the name of a prominent citizen. The two met on the street at New Matamoras and verbal fireworks opened. The indignant citizen, upon whom Ouija had cast aspersions, is reported to have made Charles Dawes look like a puling amateur. The mystery remains unsolved.

MARIETTA MERCHANTS ARE BADLY DUPED

Cash Checks for an Humble Hunter and Trapper.

Marietta, Feb. 11.—Thoroughness pays. John Harris entered three local stores, dressed in regulation "backwoods" hunting attire and accompanied by a dog. Both "hunter" and dog carried unmistakable signs of contact with skunks. He presented checks, making small purchases and was given cash in change, without question. The checks, drawn on the Citizens' Savings & Trust company, Wheeling, and signed by Albert M. Clark & Company, buyers of skunk fare, came back today. No such bank or firm exist in Wheeling.

ENDED WITH HONORS EVEN

Rattlesnake and Pet Cat Staged Battle Which Caused Death of Both Combatants.

William Lessig, gateman at the Erie railroad crossing east of Ramapo, N. J., tells a story of a battle he saw between a rattlesnake and a pet cat. It ended fatally for both.

Mr. Lessig saw a rattler about four feet long going toward the river. He picked up a club and was about to start for it when, he declares, a cat leaped out ahead of him and set upon the snake.

The cat got a fine hold on the back of the rattler's head. But the snake fought desperately and got in a sting which caused the cat to release its hold and crawl away.

In twenty minutes the cat's body was swollen almost twice its size and the poison finally caused death.

The snake had been so severely wounded it was unable to find cover and when a crow discovered it lying in the open field it was too weak to offer resistance and was soon swinging in the air as the bird made off with it.

The Forgetful Parson.

Field Marshal Sir Henry Wilson tells an amusing story of an old West country parson who had to hold two services, one in his own church and one in the church over the moor.

On arriving at the latter church he got into the pulpit and said he was awfully sorry, but he had forgotten to bring a most admirable sermon which he had written.

"Luckily," he continued, "as I came across the moor, I remembered a beautiful story, which I will tell you in place of the sermon. Ever-wed dat it, I've forgotten that, too?"

"Say, waiter, what's the difference between lunch and luncheon?"

"About $1.25, sir."

in the senate along factional lines over the Whittemore measure is now impossible.

Senator Whittemore, in discussing the action taken on his bill, yesterday, declared it was his desire to strengthen the laws relating to parole of prisoners to a point where public confidence would be restored.

"By no means do we want to weaken and lessen confidence," he said. "That would be a most serious mistake."

Public Interest.

In view of the fact that, throughout the entire state, interest in the handling of the parole power is at white heat because of the ever continuing crime wave, Representative John W Gorrell, Republican, of Carroll county, announced after the death of the Whittemore bill in the senate, that he would seek to bring his penal bill out of the codes committee in the house.

This measure, its author said, had been modified to meet many of the views of the governor.

Primarily among the modifications in importance is the fact that it places responsibility of granting paroles directly with an elective officer, the governor of the state, by requiring that all paroles be approved by the governor before they can become effective.

The Gorrell bill also abolishes the board of clemency, but creates a substitute, a pardon and parole commission of three members, which would be bi-partisan.

Two of these members are appointed by the governor for terms of two and four years, and one will be elected by the supreme court for six years, if possible under the constitution.

When the terms of the original commissioners expire, the appointments are made for a two year period.

As with the present board of clemency, one member must be an attorney. Unanimous action of the commission is required in recommending a pardon or in granting a parole.

It is the belief of the author that with the commission thus constituted, not only would political influence be reduced to a minimum but responsibility for the acts of the commission would be as directly fixed as possible.

The Gorrell bill also prevents "star chamber" sessions of the commission by providing that the commission shall keep a permanent public record of all cases in which pardons and recommendations or in which paroles are granted, and which shall contain the recommendations of all persons—including the trial judge and the prosecuting attorney—who appeared in the case or who were consulted.

To End Practice.

This is intended to put a stop to the practice many public officials and influential persons have been accused of; namely, of vigorously prosecuting a prisoner or of clamoring for his conviction, and then later—after feeling aroused in the community has died down—of exerting themselves in the prisoner's behalf.

By this change in the law, Representative Gorrell declared today, responsibility for attempting to obtain the release of a prisoner can be definitely fixed, as well as the responsibility of releasing him.

It is the belief of the author that those who seek a pardon or parole for a convict or who permit it to appear their recommendation or efforts will be slow to do so unless they are justified if they are prepared to "go on record."

The Gorrell bill not only goes to the root of the weakness that has existed in Ohio's penal system because of the ease and secrecy with which paroles and pardon recommendations have been obtained, but aims to strengthen the code, in behalf of society, by modifying the indeterminate sentence law through incorporation of the Norwood bill introduced by Senator Frank K. Norwood, Republican, of Canton, and passed by the senate this week.

This bill permits judges to sentence a criminal for a minimum term, varying with the gravity of the crime, and the Gorrell bill provides that the prisoner shall not be eligible to parole until he has served this minimum sentence.

This is with the idea that, while figures may show that only comparatively few prisoners who have been paroled are returned to the penitentiary because they have committed other crimes, the fact remains, according to Representative Gorrell, that the short sentences prisoners in Ohio serve does not make punishment the deterrent it might be.

He argued the short sentences serve to attract criminals to this state as one in which, if they are caught and sentenced, they may escape with a penalty of a few months or a few years' imprisonment.

The Gorrell bill has also been modified to prevent attorneys or other persons from appearing before the commission for hire, and to prevent the commission from receiving petitions and applications from the outside.

These provisions have been long the law, but objections were made to the Gorrell bill on the grounds that they were repealed. These objections, the author said today, had been met. Another change in the measure prevents release of a prisoner suffering from a venereal disease.

urgently set forth for the post of secretary of the interior. Mr. Dorsey accompanied the senator, but so far as could be learned they brought away no promise of an appointment.

Another who saw Mr. Harding was S. Davis Warfield, head of the association of railway securities owners. He is understood to have presented his idea of the attitude of the federal government toward the railway problem, but after the conference he volunteered no statement.

Carmi Thompson, of Ohio, an official of the Republican speakers' bureau during the campaign; H. F. McGregor, Republican national committeeman for Texas, and Charles D. Hilles, of New York, former Republican national chairman, came to talk about various patronage problems, and Senator James S. Wadsworth, of New York, brought a report on the status of army legislation in congress.

There were a half dozen other callers who placed pet proposals before the president-elect. The outpouring of advice is to go on tomorrow. Mr. Harding facing another long appointment list before he can get to his afternoon golf game.

The inaugural plans have not been worked out in detail, but final decisions regarding them will be made next week after Mrs. Harding comes to St. Augustine.

more concerned that typhus is the question of cholera. The public health service recently had asked the department of state to order its consuls abroad not to sign any health certificates unless the quarantine law in the United States had been strictly complied with.

"The quarantine laws of this country are very strict. We have a corps of inspectors in Europe covering a large number of the ports from which diseased immigrants might come. This work has been very successful. Some cases of typhus might enter, but that is only to be expected, but mistakes permitting their entrance are not general and in most cases, readily corrected."

NO BARRIER IN WAY OF FEDERAL JUDGE LANDIS

Can Hold Position as Head of Baseball Commission.

Washington, Feb. 11.—Attorney General Palmer, today, addressed a letter to Representative Welty, of Ohio, stating that in his opinion there is no barrier to Federal Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis remaining on the bench while he holds a position as head of the baseball commission.

Attorney General Palmer stated in his letter that he had not found anything in the law which would prevent Judge Landis from receiving two salaries.

MR. HUGHES WILL VISIT MR. HARDING

President-Elect Plans Good Time for Guest.

St. Augustine, Florida, Feb. 11.—President-Elect Harding, this afternoon, strongly intimated that he would appoint Charles Evans Hughes as secretary of state.

"Mr. Hughes will be in St. Augustine within the next week," said President-Elect Harding. "You may construe that as you will. I think exceedingly well of Mr. Hughes. I hope he has a good time in Florida. I may say I do not intend to do anything which will make him stay unhappy."

Granted Authority.

Washington, Feb. 11.—The Hocking Valley railway, today, was granted authority by the interstate commerce commission, to issue $2,027,000 of its general mortgage bonds, series A, with the secretary of the treasury as security for a loan out of the revolving fund.

The "trade winds" have nothing to do with trade. They ought to be called "trend"-winds because they follow a recognized trend, or track.

MORRAL M. E. CLASS MEMBERS ENTERTAINED

News from Morral and Country Round About.

Morral, O., Feb. 11.—[Special.]—Class No. 1, of the Methodist Sunday-school, taught by Mrs. J. H. Bardon met at the home of the president, Mrs. W. B. Kellenberger, Monday evening. Mrs. H. A. Martin gave a reading, "Religion in America," and a vocal selection was played on the victrola, "Jesus Saviour Pilot Me." Mrs. P. E. Heller then gave a reading "Winning Adults To Church." The program closed with a song "I Love To Tell The Story." In an "advertisement" contest, a group of ladies led by Mrs. A. J. Van Wijk were victorious.

When O. T. Pierman, agent at the local railway station opened the office at the station Tuesday morning, he discovered that a large hole had been burned in the floor. It is thought that fire fell from the stove which had been banked for the night when the second trick man went off duty. The third trick was recently abandoned and there is no one at the station from 11 until 7 o'clock in the morning.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Bardon entertained a company of friends at their home Thursday evening. The evening was passed in a social manner. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Giles, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Van Wijk, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Mount, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Gump, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Miller and son William Amos, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Kellenberger and their guest, Mrs. Margaret Best of Waverly.

Mrs. H. S. Giles was called to Columbus Friday by the serious sickness of her sister Mrs. Mae Summel, who is suffering from an attack of pneumonia.

Miss Ruth Forrey entertained the W. W. club Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. C. H. Powell and Miss Helen Virtue were guests.

Mrs. Louisa Hall was surprised Sunday, when a number of her relatives and friends gathered at her home in honor of the anniversary of her birth. The day was passed in a social manner, and a dinner brought by the guests, was served at the noon hour. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Henry Rozsman and children; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Rozsman and daughter Opal; Mr. and Mrs. Wherry Dickey and daughter, Minnie; Mr. and Mrs. Ferd Hall and daughter, Cleva; Mr. and Mrs. John Patchett and children; Mrs. Adam Rozsman and children, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hall, Mr. and Mrs. Van Borland and children, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Mount and Mrs. Louisa Hall.

The Woman's Home Missionary society of the Methodist church met at the home of Mrs. E. B. Titus, Wednesday afternoon. The topic for discussion was, "Complex Community Situation." The following readings were given from scrap book: "Bingham Conyan," Mrs. Ray Neal; "Ogden Esther Home," Mrs. E. B. Titus. From Our Missionaries at Nome, Alaska, Mrs. Wilson Massie; "Brunos Community House," Miss Minnie Titus. "A House to House Visit," was given by Mrs. A. W. Van Wijk. Mrs. Finley Van Orsdwall gave "Practical Suggestions for this Church" from the study book. A reading, "Question No. 1," was given by Mrs. L. J. Dennis. "Buddah Invading the United States," was given by Mrs. H. C. Thompson and "Marcy Center," by Mrs. W. B. Kellenberger. Mrs. Darius Washburn told about "Social Service in San Juan."

The second quarterly meeting of the conference year will convene at the Methodist church Sunday church Sunday afternoon at 2:30 instead of Saturday. Dr. C. C. Peale, of Findlay, district superintendent will preach.

Mrs. Martha Crim entertained a company of her children and friends Sunday. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Bower and son, Billy; Mrs. N. B. Wells and son, Robert, of Columbus; Mrs. Hollis Latimer, of Detroit; Miss Mildred Cook and LeMoyne Cook, of Marion; Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Mahaffey and daughters; Mrs. Ray Simpson and son, Billy.

HIDE AND GO SEEK

By John D. Swain

Copyrighted, 1910, by Public Ledger Co.

On the Theory That Most of Us Run Along in Our Little Grooves, Blind to Nearly Everything About Us, Rufus Sedgwick Fools His Friend, a Captain of Detectives

DETECTIVE Captain Garland had several times expressed to me the desire to meet Rufus Sedgwick after the latter had broken up the "Wop's" gang in a Seventh avenue resort, consigning its membership to morgue, hospital and prison, and eliminating this particular thorn in the flesh of society and the police. Accordingly, I arranged for an interview at my club, and one pleasant October evening Garland's burly figure loomed before me in tow of a servant, as I sat in the writing room while Sedgwick finished a letter.

He sealed the envelope as Garland entered, and rose to be introduced. When we had seated ourselves, Rufus Sedgwick drew from his pocket a little book, affixed a stamp to his envelope, and, moistening another, began idly juggling it in his palm, sticky side uppermost. His prominent blue eyes were fixed dreamily upon the ceiling, whose white expanse was some fifteen feet above our heads.

"What's the pipe dream?" Garland asked abruptly.

Sedgwick started, and shook off his abstraction.

"Pardon me," he laughed, "I was thinking that if one only had a sufficiently steady hand, he should be able to toss this stamp up and make it adhere to the ceiling. And I was wondering how the club servants would explain its presence up there out of reach even of a man, standing on a chair."

"Huh!" grunted Garland. "Steadiness of hand wouldn't help any. You couldn't toss so light a thing so high. Hermann himself couldn't have done it, although I've seen him pitch a playing card from the stage to the top gallery. But a card is heavy and stiff, and so smooth it kind of glides through the air."

Sedgwick gazed dreamily at the captain of detectives, seemingly unconvinced.

"Bet you a dollar I could do it!"

"Sitting there as you are?"

Sedgwick nodded.

"You're on!" Garland flashed out a roll of bills, removed a rubber band with thick, hairy fingers, and after some search found a dollar, which he laid on the table at his side.

Rufus Sedgwick made no move to cover the money, but sat gazing abstractedly first at the postage stamp in his hand, then at the white ceiling above him.

"I'm not a club member," he finally said, glancing at me.

"Go as far as you like!" I encouraged him.

He thereupon thrust a hand into his trouser pocket and drew forth a half-dollar. Lightly wetting the face of the stamp, he laid it carefully upon the coin, balancing it in his palm.

Still keeping his eyes on the ceiling, and gently swaying his hand up and down, with a quick snap of his wrist he sent the coin up into the air. It rose flat and unwirling to within about a foot of the ceiling, and fell back upon his palm. On his second try the rim of the coin struck the calcimine, and again fell back and was deftly caught. But on the third attempt it struck smartly and perfectly flat; the gummed stamp adhered, the coin returned, and we gaped foolishly at the sight of the pink stamp neatly stuck above our heads.

Sedgwick pocketed Garland's dollar, together with the coin.

"It is a charity," he smiled. "All clubs lack intelligent topics. This stamp on the ceiling will while away many a dreary hour, both among the members and below stairs."

GARLAND looked rather grumpy. No man enjoys losing a fool bet, a policeman least of all. Sedgwick turned to him.

"I might have made it a ten spot," he said, "but I never bet for mere profit. I had a reason for doing this silly little trick. It illustrates one of my theories about the police."

Garland grunted and looked disagreeable.

"Detectives always work on a preconceived theory," continued Sedgwick. "In this they reveal their kinship with human beings. They may try to, the more intelligent among them, but they can't help it. Some insidious idea gets fastened in their subconscious minds and there it sticks, influencing and often neuralizing their best efforts. In this instance, Captain Garland was influenced not by anything I said, nor because he had given the problem any real consideration, studying its chances from every angle, but simply because he saw me juggling this puny morsel of paper in my bare hand. He naturally assumed that I would attempt to throw it to the ceiling this way, a thing manifestly impossible to do. In other words, he drew precisely the conclusion I intended him to draw, which is the theory first-class criminals work on. If I were a criminal I should never be detected except by some extraordinary mischance, for which the police could claim no credit, although they doubtless would."

Warmed by the brick-red flush which had overspread Garland's face and neck, I hastily suggested that we adjourn downstairs for a drink.

When we had done so, and Rufus was peering at us over the rim of his big goblet of buttermilk—his only vice—Garland remarked, "I've got to hand it to you for the clean-up you made at Red Kelly's joint, but that gets you nothing so far as 'doing the impossible' goes. They were all low-brows; dangerous men, all right, but mostly ivory. Your little schemes wouldn't work so smooth against an intelligent bunch."

"Meaning the police?" Sedgwick queried smilingly.

"Well—yes! The police among others!"

Sedgwick gazed meditatively at the officer. "For instance," he said.

"Well, take Lieutenant Lundin. Ever see him."

Sedgwick nodded. As the burly head of what was known as the "strong arm squad," Lundin was a prominent Broadway figure.

Garland lighted a cigar with care. When its pointed end was a glowing ember he continued: "I'd like to see you, or anyman, walk up to Lundin, in public, cop his badge and make a getaway. That's simple beside some of the cute tricks you've pulled! But the boy that tries it is headed for the dangerous ward at Bellevue."

Sedgwick took another swallow of buttermilk, and said: "But your problem is so obvious that I am willing, just to pass time away, to suggest offhand one way in which your test might be met. It is probably the poorest of several ways; but, anyhow, here it is: Lundin often lunches at the Stockholm Dairy, doesn't he?"

Garland nodded.

"It's rather a quiet place, if you remember. I often go there for their excellent buttermilk. Now try to visualize the scene. I'm waiting there, over a glass of milk, watching Lundin. He finishes

Provided with flashlights, they probed into every grimy corner and starts for the cashier's desk, which is close to the door. I beat him to it, throw down my own check and a bill, he meanwhile standing at my elbow waiting to settle his. Right beside the cashier is a counter with pies, doughnuts, eclairs and things on it. Remember?"

"No," said Garland. "I eat at Haley's. But I'll take your word for it."

"You can, safely! They're there, all right. Well, I pick up a custard pie and say to the cashier as she is charging my bill, 'How much?' And suddenly turning on Lundin, I smear that pie all over his face. I take his badge, make two short steps, and lose myself in the noonday crowd. All done in three to five seconds. It takes longer than that to come to the surface with mouth, nose and eyes full of soft custard. Remember, custard is a great leveler. The victim may have the brain of a Daniel Webster or the brawn of a heavyweight, but these qualities will not help him paw his way out to daylight any quicker. Mind you, that's not my way of going about a thing. It doesn't eliminate every chance. I might step square into the arms of another officer entering the Stockholm; or a spectator might delay me until he broke loose. But at that, it's a good ten-to-one shot."

"PRETTY sad, Sedgwick!" grinned Garland. "You're wise not to try it."

"Well, I'll make you a proposition," offered Sedgwick. "I'll try it, against my principles as it is, and I won't pull it off this way, either. But I'll let you be present as a witness, and I'll just draw my check for ten thousand against your five thousand that I go through. More than that, I'll donate my winnings to the police relief fund."

"You know you're safe, because you know I can't dig up any such an amount," said Garland.

"I've always rather wanted to have a run-in with the police," Sedgwick sighed. "The poor dears mean well, and I simply refuse to offer gratuitous insult or possible injury to honest, though misguided men. But if ever I do turn criminal——"

"You'll be pinched before you do much harm."

Rufus Sedgwick pursued his train of thought.

"The police system in this country is entirely unscientific. You run along a little narrow groove smoothly enough until you are derailed, and then you're as helpless as a freight wreck."

Great disgust spread over Garland's features.

"The 'amachoor' detective is the curse of our lives," he snarled. "Every whippersnapper that reads about Sherlock Holmes wants to reform the force. Let me tell you, Holmes wouldn't last in our bureau twenty-four hours."

"Ever happen to read Poe's 'Purloined Letter,' Cap?" inquired Sedgwick.

"No! Not as I know of."

"That's rather a pity: for, while it has no real story-plot, it is the loveliest little picture of the typical detective that ever was penned. I strongly urge you to run it over. You can do it in fifteen minutes. It bears out one of my theories perfectly. The police investigator has always a blind spot in his eye. He sees what he is looking for. He always has his little theory, and distorts everything to fit it. Within his exceedingly narrow limitations he is rather a keen observer; I don't deny that. For example, you, Garland, would probably be unable to notice a blood-stain on one of the walls here, and be reminded of an exit. But though you were to come into every day for a month, and during that time a signed etching by Zorn were to be hung in place of a discarded print, I doubt if you would see what any art-lover would observe within three minutes after he entered the room."

"Well, what of it?" Garland challenged. "What's it got to do with my profession?"

"Only this, not all clues are labeled. The most trifling and seemingly irrelevant detail may have everything to do with a case. The great detective, when he is produced, will note everything. Till then you will simply see the things you think have some bearing on the case in hand, and which, in fact, may or may not. Always madly pursuing the obvious—or worse yet, inventing a weird theory and trying to bend prosaic facts to its dimensions."

I began to feel a little uncomfortable. Sedgwick's frankness had gotten under the skin of Captain Garland, and I had no desire to spend the evening listening to an acrimonious discussion, which would leave both parties unconvinced. Rufus Sedgwick, once started, would theorize until the club closed, and I felt it my duty to do something.

"Seems to me," I suggested, "that it should be possible to arrange a test that would not entail my friend's becoming a lawbreaker, and yet would give all the stage-setting of an actual criminal investigation. Your men have occasional holidays, haven't they, Garland?"

"A day off in ten, when not on assignment," he answered. "But you don't suppose the poor simps are going to put in their rest-time playing puss-in-the-corner with this theorizer, do you?"

"I'd make it worth their trouble," Sedgwick eagerly interposed. "Let me think a moment."

He finished his buttermilk slowly, eyes fixed on vacancy. Suddenly he set down the empty glass and cried: "By Jove! I have it. Remember that vacant estate next your country place that I saw when I spent Sunday with you?"

I knew, of course, that he referred to a curious old house owned by some clients of mine. It stood near my Long Island bungalow, in a half-acre of yard surrounded by a stone wall ten feet high. The last inmate, an eccentric uncle, had died three years before, and the house had been for sale ever since. It had the reputation of being haunted, and indeed the wreck of its old formal garden with the box borders, shiny fish-pool, dilapidated iron dogs and china and the old sundials bones itself, topped by a mansard roof overhung by two or three dejected poplars had rather a ghostly appearance. I outlined it to Garland.

"Well, what's the idea?" he commented with no great enthusiasm.

"You four of your men who can take a day off together," urged Sedgwick, "pick out men skilled in investigating premises where a crime has been committed. I'll engage and pay for a car for the day, and we'll all run down to this place, aiming to arrive at 8 in the morning. After you have escorted me to the door, let one of your men be posted at each corner outside the wall to make sure I do not leave the yard. Give me one hour; and at 9 sharp have the four men enter and search for me, according to your scientific theories. I'll be concealed on the premises. I've never been inside the gate and will not till I motor down with you detectives. I will give you three hours—until noon, that is—to find me. And in order to give them an incentive, I'll bet $1000 against their $100; that is, each of the four stands to lose $25, or to win $250. At noon, if unfound, I'll reveal myself to them and claim the pot."

The final arrangements stipulated that four of Garland's best men were to motor down with us, the captain himself evidently considering it beneath his dignity to take part. He agreed to advance the $100 if his men did not, although quite sure they would jump at the chance. Neither party was to visit the place until the day of the test, and my gardener's boy was to be engaged as watchman. Sedgwick was to fetch a small suitcase with him and the detectives were not to open it wherever he left it when he hid. He should be free to hide anywhere except underground, the cellar not being considered in that restriction. If undiscovered, he should show the men where he had concealed himself. The day fixed upon was the following Tuesday.

Tuesday dawned mild and sunny, and Garland joined us at a Broadway chop house with his four pets, each of whom handed me $25, which I placed in my pocketbook along with my friend's $1000 check. We had rather a jolly breakfast, the detectives seeming good fellows with little about them to indicate their calling. It was evident that they were picked men; Sedgwick admitted later that he had never seen so many intelligent policemen together at one time.

We drove to my bungalow, where the chauffeur ran the car into the garage, after which we all went inside for a little drink—all but Sedgwick. I had no buttermilk on the premises.

Then, taking the heavy, old-fashioned key from a drawer of my desk, I led the way to the deserted house and threw open the rusty iron gate in its fortress-like wall, and we marched up its mossy brick walk to the door.

WEEDS had choked out everything [illegible] the unkempt box borders, [illegible] rose bushes and a [illegible] and there a [illegible] with [illegible]

[illegible] merly stood. On a pile of rocks in the midst of the sedgy fish pool, thickly dotted with lily-pads, a cheap copy of the classic "Athlete Using a Strigil" brooded in dignified

The ancient lock turned with a rusty screech, and Rufus Sedgwick stepped into the old, dark entry hall and set down his suitcase. The rest stood for a moment, staring curiously at the drab interior with its vista of open doors yielding into great empty rooms, and the huge stairway sweeping to the floor above. I looked at my watch.

"Right on time! It lacks five minutes to eight. Everybody ready?"

Their murmured assent echoed tremulously in the empty spaces. We left Sedgwick standing beside the ornate newel post and I pocketed the key, leaving the door open and unlocked. As the village clock sounded eight strokes from a nearby steeple the four man-hunters, posted one at each corner of the wall, so that two men controlled a clear view of each side of the square, took up their vigil of an hour, and I returned to my bungalow to chat with the waiting chauffeur and make him at home.

PROMPTLY at 9 o'clock the four men filed through the iron gate like honorary pallbearers and entered the house. Availing myself of a mutual permission I would not for anything have missed, I followed. As stakeholder, my presence was official, and it was understood that I was to offer no suggestion, nor, of course, render aid to either side, nor be out of sight of the search party.

First of all they visited the cellar in a body. Provided with flashlights, they probed its every grimy corner; examined the interior of the rusty old wood furnace, the rotting fuel bin; kicked to pieces half a dozen decrepit barrels; went over every foot of ceiling for a possible hiding place amid its loose boards. The two narrow windows, darkened by a rank growth of weeds, contained iron bars still secure. These were carefully tested. Finally they went all about the rough masonry wall with little hammers, sounding for loosened stones or hollow spaces. There was none. Their last act was to set fire to a peg of sulphur in the old furnace.

"That'll smoke him out in a hurry if he's hiding anywhere in the chimney," they explained.

We ascended to the ground floor, and one of the men closed and sealed the door with a gummed paper, which would have to be torn across by whoever entered next time.

Then they began at the attic. Prying open the trapdoor two of them crawled out on the roof and went over it methodically. Finding nothing and sending a few loose slates bowling down into the lustrous garden, they rejoined us in the attic, and this was searched as carefully as the cellar had been.

Everywhere they looked for marks of human hand or foot in the dust of floor, stair and window ledge, and everywhere they found plenty. It was evident that Sedgwick had prowled [illegible] down were open. From one of [illegible] might have climbed, [illegible] scattered leaves [illegible] stone. [illegible]

[illegible] have been secreted within it and escaped detection. At all times one of the detectives stood where he could watch the hall, through which at opposite ends entered the two stairways, front and back. Thus no one could flit past and gain the regions already searched.

So engrossed was I with the realism of our drama that it was with surprise I noted how much time had fled when at length we closed once more in the hall beside Sedgwick's suit case. We left it there, going to the tiny back yard, a place barely large enough to hang out a few clothes or raise a bed of lettuce in. Two minutes sufficed to cover its possibilities, and then, two on each side of the house, the four passed to the front.

Here also the places where one might hide seemed negligible. Two or three of the thickest clumps of weeds were trodden flat. The few trees were peered into, and their boles sounded and bored for hollows. A couple of masonry pedestals of overturned statues required some time to demonstrate that they were solid, although above ground where a man could possibly hide.

I stood with the baffled men beside the slimy fish pool, a scant five minutes lacking of the hour of noon. My heart pounded as furiously as if a friend was being tracked by a band of remorseless murderers; tinctured with a sickening fear that Sedgwick had not played fair—since I would have taken oath no hiding place had been overlooked. The final move of the investigators had been to go over the surrounding stone wall.

"That guy is a foxy cuss," one of the detectives spoke up. "It's a cinch he has handed us something sour. What do you suppose he had in his suitcase?"

"Remember the agreement not to hide 'underground'? Well—I've heard of men hiding under water. Maybe he's down under this pool right now, waiting to rise up and claim our good money soon as the clock strikes 12. He might have brought some kind of breathing apparatus in his grip, a tube like fitting over his nose and mouth and floating on the water."

"Well, if so, he's had a long, wet wait," commented a third; and forthwith they began disturbing the pool, throwing in heavy stones and prodding the lily pads with dead branches which were scattered all about.

Suddenly one of the men straightened up, a look of disgust on his face.

"Easy!" he shouted. "He's made suckers of us all. Can't you see it? The suitcase was just a blind to throw us off. He goes into the house and we leave him there alone. Am I right?"

"Yes, yes!"

"Go on!"

"Shoot!"

"Well, soon as our backs are turned he beats it to the rear of the house, opens a window and hops over the wall before we have time to post ourselves suitable. He skips around to the front and hides across the road opposite the gate till he sees us all go in at 9. Get me?"

They groaned that they did.

"So then he lies low till we all come out of the house a little time ago, which we do in a bunch. He hikes back to the rear, climbs the wall—not a soul on guard—and re-enters the house. And just as soon as the old clock counts 12, you'll see Mr. Man walk cheerily out of the front door and give us all the merry ha-ha."

"This is a hell of a holiday!" grumbled one of the four. "We play hide-and-go-seek all forenoon and pay twenty-five bucks apiece for the privilege! I——"

AT THIS instant the village block began to sound the hour. And before the vibrations had died away a familiar voice caused us to wheel about with hanging jaws.

From the pile of rocks in the middle of the fish pool, a bronze figure, with fists on hips and gleaming eyes, was addressing us.

"Coarse work, men! Always the same, ignoring the facts in front of your noses while you construct wildly improbable theories! Give me a hand—will you?"

As he spoke he clambered down and waded through the water, while I helped him up the bank onto the brick walk.

"It was bronze make-up I carried in my suitcase," he informed us, stretching his statuesque limbs. "Like that the living statues wear at the Hippodrome, you know. Beastly stuff to put on and worse yet to get off, I fancy."

He then slipped on an old raincoat from the grip and accompanied us, the weirdest figure imaginable. Only once did a chagrined detective utter any comment.

"There was a statue in that place when we came in," he said.

"There was," agreed Sedgwick solemnly; "one of those old-fashioned bronze plum affairs, light and flimsy. Standing in the water I hauled it down and held it until it had filled with water and sunk. That's why you didn't hear a splash, although perhaps that didn't occur to you."

AFTER the men had started back for New York in the car, and while Rufus Sedgwick was still mucking about in the bathroom with towels and sundries soap and things, he called out to me in the next room. "Good thing for me there was no amateur sculptor in that bunch! I think what all myself as a Greek statute, but any first year student from the academy would have spotted me at a glance."

"We would have been terribly tedious to wrestle confidences for three hours," I suggested.

"Not at all. I've learned among other things to do that, but in this case it was quite unnecessary. I merely chose freely and you all acted true. Had suddenly you exclaimed, you, Captain, my subject, clutched my throat, declared, 'might look things to me a mere statue smash the man!'

After a period of groaning and swearing he added: "I'll bet a hat I'm one of those chaps ever read 'The Purloined Letter.' It wouldn't have made any difference if they had, I suppose. But see they had a fixed idea of a crook. I was convinced, Hugo, I was in for all night. You have seen that [illegible] a man is more effective [illegible] to be plain view all Alcohol Seized In Raid.

Toledo, Feb. 11. — Prohibition agents raided the home of Louis Roma, hair tonic manufacturer, and declare they discovered one of the most complete plants for rectifying alcohol ever found outside a distillery. Three hundred gallons of rectified alcohol, liquor and gin, valued at $20,000, were seized. Roma now is out on a $20,000 bond in Cleveland courts, federal agents said. They also claim he has been selling the stuff throughout Michigan and Ohio.

Restaurants Cut Prices.

Toledo, Feb. 11.—Some Toledo restaurants announced cuts of from 25 to 30 per cent in food prices. The general decline in food articles was said to be responsible. Federal authorities recently threatened to investigate food prices in Chinese restaurants here, saying that their prices have remained the same during the last few months.

American Marines Arrested.

Washington, Feb. 11.—Twenty-one American marines attached to the legation guard at Managua, Nicaragua, have been arrested by American military authorities as a result of the wrecking of the newspaper La Tribuna at Managua, Secretary Daniels announced. Captain J. L. Underhill, commanding the guard, reported to the navy department that the men attacked the newspaper establishment as a result of the publication of what they considered "abusive and libelous" articles regarding the marines.

BRYAN PLAN IS BEING DISCUSSED

Reorganization of Democratic Party Aim of Commoner.

Washington, Feb. 11. — Announcement in New York by Judge R. C. Roper of Nebraska that William Jennings Bryan and his brother Charles are contemplating a reorganization of the Democratic party was received here with interest. Judge Roper, who is in New York to represent the Bryans in conferences with progressive Democrats, declared that it is the purpose of the Bryans to rouse the "middle class Democrats" and give them the control of the party, "thus eliminating the two elements now in control—the Cox-White faction and the McAdoo-Woolley wing."

Organization of clubs and forums for the discussion of vital questions is one of the methods with which the Bryans propose to work. "The Bryan plan," said Judge Roper, "is to organize the privates in the lines so as to develop an effective fighting army."

Miami, Fla., Feb. 11.—"If the Democratic party is going to be a force in this country it must have members, and the voters will not be willing to act through the Democratic party unless they can control it," said William Jennings Bryan at his winter home here. He said he had not known that a definite date for the launching of the reorganization movement had been set, as announced by Judge Roper.

Woman Goes to Reformatory.

Springfield, O., Feb. 11.—Mrs. Monetta Snowden, wife of Captain Frank B. Snowden, indicted on the charge of shooting to kill Thelma Keller during a jealous rage, pleaded guilty in common pleas court and was sentenced to the Marysville reformatory. Miss Keller is at the hospital in a serious condition.

Donahey In Coal Business.

New Philadelphia, O., Feb. 11.—Former State Auditor A. V. Donahey is going into the coal business, he announced, following his purchase of 116 acres of coal land near Cadiz, O. Mining will start as soon as machinery can be installed, he said.

Bishop Farrelly Ill.

Cleveland, Feb. 11.—Bishop John P. Farrelly of the Catholic diocese of Cleveland is critically ill of pneumonia in Knoxville, Tenn., where he is visiting relatives.

HERE AND THERE

Lack of funds, caused by the recent slump in the market for farm products, is suggested by university officials as the reason for a decrease in the winter registration of farm lads at the University of Illinois.

Bob Martin.

New York, Feb. 11.—Bob Martin is getting ready to announce himself at Jack Dempsey's front door. The A. E. F. heavyweight champion, who is in training here for his fifteen-round bout at Madison Square garden a week from tonight, hopes to get a crack at the heavyweight championship within the year, if he defeats Bill Brennan, who will be his opponent. Martin has been brought along easily by his manager, Jimmy Bronson. For almost two years, he has confined his activity in the ring to the second class.

Fight a Draw.

Cincinnati, Feb. 11.—"Chick" Allman, of Toledo and Battling Chink fought ten rounds to a draw last night. Chink had the best of the first five sessions and Allman, the last five.

Last Night's Fights.

At Kenosha, Wisconsin—Johnny Wilson, middleweight champion, knocked out Navy Rostan in the second round of a scheduled ten-round bout.

At Toledo—Tommy Gibbons knocked out Tony Melchoir in the first round. The bout was scheduled for twelve rounds.

At Saginaw, Michigan—Chuck Wiggins, of Indianapolis, stopped Joe Lohman, of Toledo, in the fifth round.

At Rockford, Illinois—Bud Clancy knocked out Soldier Jack Riley in the second round.

Kenosha, Wisconsin—Johnny Wilson, holder of the middleweight boxing title, has a throng of new admirers in the Middle-West, today, as a result of his expeditious disposal of Navy Rostan here, last night. Wilson knocked out Rostan in the second round. Wilson's bankroll is $200 lighter, however, because he failed to make the stipulated weight of 158 pounds. Rostan claimed his forfeit.

WEDDING IN BERLIN ANNOUNCED TODAY

Daughter of American Bishop Weds Boy-Ed.

[illegible] Feb. [illegible] Miss Mackay-Smith, daughter of the late Bishop Alexander M. Mackay-Smith of the Protestant Episcopal diocese of Pennsylvania and Captain Carl Boy-Ed, former German naval attache at Washington, have been married in Berlin. A cable sent to this effect was received from the bride's mother by close friends of the Mackay Smith family in this city.

Miss MacKay-Smith with her mother left their home in Washington last month for Germany but nothing was said of the approaching wedding at the time. The wedding marks the culmination of a romance which has aroused the interest of two continents.

Captain Boy-Ed was recalled from Washington by the German government in December, 1914, at the request of President Wilson. He was charged with having been connected with munition plots and the sending of supplies to German raiders from American ports.

Public libraries are not the modern institutions they are popularly supposed to be. They existed in Egypt, Persia, Greece and Rome, thousands of years ago, and the library established by the Arabs at Cordova contained over 250,000 volumes.

Blue comes out white in photography, red looks black and light yellow and pink appear as varying tints of gray.

A Chicago woman destroyed her husband's clothes in a fit of passion. He complained of her, she was arrested and fined, and he had to pay the fine.

Troops Restore Order.

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 11—Both Albany and Troy are quiet under the heavier guard of state troopers and police assembled since the trouble began to develop from the strike of the United Traction company's employes. Down-state militiamen are ready for a possible summons to duty in both cities where violence for two days attended attempts to resume trolley service with crews of strike-breakers.

Would Amend Mothers' Pension Act.

Columbus, Feb. 11.—Representative Atkinson of Columbus introduced a bill in the general assembly amending the mothers' pension law so that any poor mother of dependent children, whether she is a widow or not, may be benefited. It also increases the monthly allowance to mothers from $10 to $25. The word "women" is substituted for "widows" in the amended bill.

No Frills at Inauguration.

St. Augustine, Fla., Feb. 11.—Inauguration of President-elect Harding will be as free from social frills as he can make it. He said he was holding to his determination to keep the ceremonies simple and that there would be no social features to the events of March 4, except possibly a luncheon to be given by Mr. Harding to his father and other members of his family.

Woman Bathes in Whisky.

Greenville, S. C., Feb. 11.—Police discovered a 75-gallon capacity whisky distillery in full operation at a home in a fashionable residential section. A syphon suction system emptied the liquor into a bathtub. When the officers arrived a woman hopped into the tub and splashed around in an effort to throw off suspicion. But she failed.

REV. J. M. DENNING IS TO BE CONSUL AT ROME

Appointment To Be Made by Harding When President.

ANNOUNCEMENT MADE BY ARCHBISHOP MOELLER

Will Be First Catholic Priest in History To Occupy Post. Great Honor.

Rev. Jerome M. Denning, pastor of St. Mary's Catholic church, is to be appointed United States consul at Rome.

Consent of Archbishop Henry Moeller, Cincinnati, of the Ohio diocese of the Catholic church, has been given to the request of Father Denning to resign his pastorate at St. Mary's church to accept an expected appointment to Rome. Official announcement of Archbishop Moeller's action was made in Cincinnati today according to a special despatch to the Star this morning.

First in History.

When the expected appointment is made following the inauguration of President-Elect W. G. Harding, March 4, Father Denning will enjoy the distinction of being the first Catholic priest in history to occupy the post of United States consul at Rome.

It became known this morning that shortly after his nomination by the Republican National convention in June, President-Elect W. G. Harding informed Father Denning that it was his intention, if elected, to name him consul at Rome and it is understood that shortly after the election the president-elect tendered the Marion priest the appointment.

REV. J. M. DENNING.

Vigorously Opposed.

Before definite acceptance could be made by Father Denning it was necessary for him to secure the consent by Archbishop Moeller to his resignation and this move was met with vigorous opposition on the part of the archbishop, who took the position that the resignation of Father Denning would mean an irreparable loss to the diocese and that his services are greatly needed here.

Later the matter came to the attention of Archbishop Bonzano, of Washington, apostolic delegate to the United States, who immediately gave his enthusiastic approval and stated the tender was not only a high compliment to Father Denning, as a priest and a man, but also is most complimentary to the Catholic church. Archbishop Bonzano took the matter up with Archbishop Moeller and the consent of the Cincinnati archbishop followed.

Father Denning, who for a number of years has been a personal friend of President-Elect Harding, only last year returned from a trip to Europe and an extended visit to Rome. He had an audience with the pope, during which he was accompanied by Dean McFarland, son of Fire Chief T. J. McFarland, who is a student at the North American college at Rome.

Thirty Years a Priest.

Graduating from Mt. St. Mary's of the West seminary in Cincinnati, Father Denning has been in the priesthood for thirty years and his first service was as assistant pastor of St. Peter's Cathedral Cincinnati under Father Mackey. His first pastorate was at Oxford and later he held pasturates at Versailles, Bellefontaine and Hillsboro.

Father Denning came to Marion as pastor of St. Mary's church in 1904 and has made an enviable record during his seventeen years of service here.

During that period the membership of the church has been increased from 1,500 to 2,500, a new $75,000 school building erected, a $20,000 church debt paid, a $4,000 cemetery debt and a $2,000 convent debt liquidated.

Playground Purchase.

Recently Father Denning purchased property adjoining the church and school for an [illegible] playground at a cost of $17,000 and has put current expenses amounting to $10,000 a year.

In a Marion [illegible] comprehensive [illegible] him for the [illegible] at Rome. Father Denning is thoroughly conversant with the Italian language. Following [illegible] from Rome Father Denning said [illegible] streets in Italy with the ease and [illegible] desire to return there.

During his long residence in Marion Father Denning has made many warm friendships, both in and out of the church, and while his removal from this city will be generally regretted, practically all of Marion extend congratulations to Father Denning on his expected appointment.

Reds Scalp Indians.

The Indians were scalped two out of three games rolled against the Reds, Thursday night on the Y. M. C. A. alleys. The score:

Indians—Hogan, 182, 212, 180; Staub, 169, 149, 146; Axtheim, 141, 116, 134, Zeig, 152, 158, 170; Zeiser, 191, 178, 156. Totals, 835, 861, 776.

WET SNOW BLAST HITS CITY HARD LAST NIGHT

Snowplows, Seven in Number, Are Out All Night.

MORE THAN SIX INCHES OF THE BEAUTIFUL FALLS

Superintendent of Schools Says the Heavy Snowfall Fails To Cut Down Attendance.

Hi! Kids, get your sleds! Watch out, stranger, there comes a snowball!

Youngsters began shouting with glee yesterday in anticipation of some jolly winter sport, when fleecy white flakes began pelting down thick and fast, and everybody had the invigorating feeling which snow always brings.

The storm began about 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon and grew stronger as the night advanced Mother Earth soon being covered with a mantle of white. According to the government register in charge of Dr. E. H. Raffensperger, there was an average of about six inches of snow on the ground this morning at 7 o'clock, and more fell during the day.

Delightful Winter Scene.

The delightful winter scene, with whitened trees and roofs overhead and a carpet of soft glistening snow beneath, called forth many comments this morning to the beauty of Old King Winter as his "white gift" has been conspicuous by its absence this winter. This is one of the few snow storms of the winter season and the heaviest since the first of the year.

During the day the snow, especially in the business districts, became a slush and overshoes, galoshes and boots were the fashion.

It was given out from the service department this morning that Carl O. Midlam, the service director, and assistants started cleaning the streets early last evening and seven plows worked all night.

The principal streets were given attention first and it was impossible to reach some of the side streets before school hours, making it necessary for some pupils to either plow through the snow or remain at home. Some districts, however, were not taken care of this morning owing to the teams assigned to those districts failing to show up.

Superintendent of Schools H. R. McVay said that the attendance at school this morning was quite good considering the weather.

All incoming trains have been reported on time and both interurbans have been running practically on time.

FICIENCY OF LABOR HIGHER

rvey of Industrial Field Is Completed.

EATER OUTPUT IS BEING SHOWN

deral Reserve Board Shows Workers of Country Are Now Speeding Up.

ington, Feb. 11.—Much concern is ne higher efficiency. The Fed- Reserve board so reports the re- s of a survey of the industrial . Greater output for each man industry, the board finds, means ch to the ultimate consumer. Two causes have forced a speeding in efficiency in plants all over the ted States. They are: 1. Im- ved morale among workers. 2. ger number of men looking for s.

Some of the groups representative of the better operating conditions were the steel mills, showing increases of from five to ten per cent. in production with the same payrolls. Among the manufacturers, notably the clothing producers, output rose about twenty per cent. above the output of a year ago, without additions to working forces.

The Federal Reserve board states that an important factor in raising efficiency has been the change from time work to piece work in various plants over the country.

The higher efficiency basis now noted among workers the board considers a most important factor in price conditions of the future. Resumption of activity upon a more normal scale, probably within the next two or three months, officials declared, will absorb a large part of the men and women workers now idle because of factory closings. The merit system among workers, the board contends, will influence a lowering to more reasonable levels of prices on a wide range of commodities. The piece work basis upon which many plants will operate will effect tremendous economics in overhead costs for such plants.

ANTI-FRENCH CAMPAIGN ON

Launched in Italy by a Leading Paper.

ATTEMPT TO INVOLVE ALLIES IN NEW WAR

Charge Made Against France. War Reparations Sought to Detriment of Italy.

Washington, Feb. 11.—Labor being displayed by the French press over a violent anti-France campaign recently launched in several Italian newspapers, led by the Tempo.

The campaign first took the form of charges that France was trying to get more than her just share of war reparations to the detriment of Italy. Then it swung to charges of militarism, including the allegation that France was trying to involve the allies in a new war by insisting upon strict application of the Versailles treaty.

Recently certain Italian newspapers reproduced the charge that French colored troops in the German occupied zone had assaulted German women. They even printed cartoons depicting colored soldiers dragging white women by the hair. French weekly magazines retaliated by inquiring why the Tempo's Paris correspondent is allowed to remain in France.

Should Renounce Aid.

The Giornale d'Italia, organ of Baron Sonnino, former foreign minister of Italy, tackles matters from another angle in an editorial urging France to "renounce the problematical aid of the United States and an alliance with England" on the ground that the United States will never aid France at all and that England's assistance will be dearly bought.

The Paris Journal des Debats, in a lengthy editorial dealing with the consequences of the Italian press campaign, comments as follows:

"So they want us to return to the old scheme of things whereby France and Italy, closely linked, should govern the world. What folly! France and Italy would be absolutely incapable of this task; they would go under in a great catastrophe. Furthermore, for her part, France has not the ambition that seems to haunt some Italian brains. She wants only to live and to play her part in the world by ideal and by intelligence. Italy can nourish the same legitimate ambition. But she must not require of us an alliance which endangers friendships with our common allies. Both Italy and France have identical interests in preserving the friendship of England and the United States.

Harding on Disarmament.

St. Augustine, Fla., Feb. 11.—President-elect Harding opened his office here after a three weeks' vacation, "I will do everything that is becoming to bring about the co-operation of the United States in any scheme for world disarmament," Mr. Harding thus summarized his views on international disarmament. "I am not prepared at this time to detail the steps to be taken, but I unequivocally indorse the idea of bringing about a limitation of armaments, or international disarmament, in which all nations would play their parts," he said.

Lloyd George Replies to Threat.

London, Feb. 11.—Lloyd George, the prime minister, informed the Locomotive Engineers' and Firemen's union that its implied threat to bring on a general strike in Great Britain over the shooting of railway men at Mallow Ireland, last month, would not influence the government in considering the union's demand for an investigation.

BUCKEYE BRIEFS

Robbed While at Prayer.

Cincinnati, Feb. 11.—Mrs. Rose Mittendorf, while at worship in St. Francis church here, was robbed of $8 by a woman sitting beside her, she told police. She believes the woman opened her purse while she was praying.

Legion Plans Drive!

Cleveland, Feb. 11.—The American Legion announced it has fixed Feb. 26 as "bonus day," when a drive for votes will be launched. A concerted statewide campaign will be carried on to put over the proposed $25,000,000 bond issue to meet the $10 per month bonus provided in the measure passed in the legislature.

Stockholders' Meeting Postponed.

Akron, O., Feb. 11.—Another postponement of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber company stockholders' meeting to pass on refinancing plans was announced at the company's offices here. The meeting was postponed to Feb. 25. Officials here said they were confident that the plan would be ready for submission to stockholders by Feb. 25.

Hynicka's Statement.

Cincinnati, Feb. 11. — R. K. Hynicka, who announced that he would not accept re-election as chairman of the Republican city committee, made a further announcement that he does not contemplate resigning his membership in the county central committee nor the chairmanship of that committee. He proposes also to continue as chairman of the executive and advisory committee.

Crossing Crash Claims Three Lives.

Cleveland, Feb. 11.—Three persons were killed and one was injured in a grade crossing crash near here. The dead: H. D. Rawlings, 35; Mrs. Fred Kerslake, 33, and Miss Gladys Hornbrook, 20, all residents of Bedford. Rawlings was driving the party from a theater and, according to Miss Gladys Garrett, 20, sole survivor, he became confused when three men waved him to stop, and put on power.

Murder Charge Against Convict.

Gallipolis, O., Feb. 11.—W. H. Griffith, convict in the Moundsville penitentiary, who recently was captured in the south following his sensational escape from the prison several weeks ago, was indicted for the murder of Captain Ira Roush by a special grand jury at Point Pleasant, W. Va., sitting here. Captain Roush's body was found in the river at Point Pleasant Jan. 28. His skull was crushed and [illegible]

CORPORATION PAYS PENSIONS

Steel People Do Not Forget Retired Workers.

SYSTEM IS FOUNDED BY ANDREW CARNEGIE

Tenth Annual Report of Pension Fund Shows Progress Made in Year.

Pittsburgh, Feb. 11.—An aggregate of $779,766.60 in pensions was paid to retired employes of the United States Steel corporation and its subsidiary companies during the year 1920, according to the tenth annual report of the United States Steel and Carnegie Pension fund, made public here. This is $46,059.15 more than was disbursed last year, and greater than any year since the establishment of the fund in 1911. There were 3,264 participants, 2,940 being on the list at the beginning of 1920 and 324 being added during the year. Two hundred and ninety-five were discontinued because of death or other causes, leaving 2,969 as active participants.

The total amount disbursed since the establishment of the fund is $5,880,581.60 and starting with $281,457.87 that year it has increased annually, the amounts being for 1912, $358,780.92; 1913, $422,815.14; 1914, $511,967.90; 1915, $659.859.42; 1916, $711,130.73; 1917, $712,506.65; 1918, $709,959.82; 1919, $733,707.48, and for 1920, $779,766.60. For ten years the average of the pensioners has been 65.78 years, the average service 30.41 years and the average payment $22.19 monthly.

The beneficiaries make no contribution to the fund. The money is derived from a trust fund of $12,000,000 established by Andrew Carnegie and the United States Steel corporation.

Because so many of the corporation's activities are in the Pittsburgh district, naturally a large proportion of the fund is distributed here. The Carnegie Steel company leads the subsidiary companies with $168,715.79, more than $8,000 increase over the preceding year. The Edgar Thomson Works at Braddock, Pennsylvania, led all units of this company with $36,387.17, regarded ill-retired employes, while the Homestead plant was second with $35,873.80. The old mills of the company known as the City mills received $22,142.21, while $12,463.97 went to the Youngstown, Ohio, plants.

Holding A Husband

BY ADELE GARRISON.

Lillian's eyes fairly glowed as I called her attention to the envelope tied around the neck of the bottle stuck in my old clock.

"Handle it carefully, Madge," she cautioned. "We want to save that in its entirety."

The envelope was unsealed, and I gingerly drew out the single sheet of cheap, colored notepaper which it contained. The notepaper bore the same caption as the envelope:

"To The CHEAP SKATES who live IN this House," and then followed a medley of words.

"Oh! You Cheap Skates!

"You think you're smart.

"No money and no booze, ha, ha, ha.

"No booze, not even want of hope, you stingy, dirty jays.

"But we'll fix you good and proper. We'll have a better welcome when we come next time, which will be SOON.

"Remember!"

Then followed two or three Rabelaisian sentences, which made us all flush angrily. Lillian put out her hand.

"Do you mind if I keep this, Madge?"

"I am glad to get it out of my possession," I said, handing it to her and involuntarily wiping my fingers vigorously upon a towel which lay carelessly thrown across the chair with other linen from my sideboard drawers, and which by some miracle had not been soiled in the orgy that had been staged in the room.

With another searching glance around the dining room we left it and went through the other rooms, finding in each evidences of the strange marauders. I had not ordered the gas or electric light turned off when we left, because I wanted to have everything in readiness when I returned, and in the kitchen we found the gas stove covered with a trail of burned grease, while a frying pan held a mass of the same congealed material, surrounding a cold fried egg. Other eggs, broken wantonly into plates, stood on the stove. While the kitchen table held plates showing that at least two persons had eaten there. The plates held scraps of egg and bread, and there were dishes of canned fruit, evidently taken from the half-empty glass jars which stood near them. The coffee pot, still half-full of coffee, stood on the stove.

"They must have been hungry," Edith Fairfax said.

"Perhaps," Lillian replied thoughtfully, examining the plates closely. "Did you have these things in the house, Madge?"

"We have some eggs in the cellar which we put down in brine last summer for winter use in cooking," I replied. "I suppose these are from those supplies. The canned fruit is ours, of course, but they must have brought in the bread. As for the grease, I do not know. We had some butter put down for the winter in a jar in the cellar."

Lillian took down a small, clean frying pan, and a knife, struck a match, turned on the gas flame, and set the pan on it. Then she took up a knifeful of the congealed grease and put in the other pan.

"Butter," she decided in another minute when the fat was sputtering and smoking. "Well, there's no use staying here! Let's go upstairs."

We ascended to the second floor, and there found disorder enough to bring despair to the heart of any housekeeper. Every bureau drawer had been opened and its contents dumped on the floor. The locks of the trunks had been broken, and the trunks turned upside down letting their contents fall where they might. Every bundle had been untied, every box opened and its contents scattered.

"Is anything missing, Madge?" Lillian asked, as we stood in my mother-in-law's bedroom, for we had taken the rooms in order down the hall.

"I can not tell yet," I said. "Oh, poor Mother Graham!"

The drawer of her Martha Washington sewing table, the pride of her heart, had been wrenched out and its hinges broken, while her sewing things were scattered on the floor, and a collection of picture postal cards she kept in the lower drawer and which had been sent her from all over the world, were nowhere to be seen.

"I'm afraid her picture postal cards are gone," I said.

"That would indicate boys, wouldn't it?" Edith Fairfax asked. "Professional thieves wouldn't want postal cards."

"Perhaps." Lillian again spoke noncommittally.

With a sudden thought I darted from the room.

"Oh, my keepsake trunk!" I exclaimed, as I darted down the hall to my own room.

When the others entered the room they found me on my knees beside my mother's old trunk, my face against it, sobbing like a heartbroken child.

I heard Lillian exclaim savagely under her breath as she stooped and raised me.

GIRLS! DON'T WORRY ABOUT THAT UGLY LOOKING RASH

A Few Applications of Lanolated Iodine at Night Will Quickly Heal It.

Lanolated Iodine is the ideal method of treating a rough, sore skin. Unlike ordinary tincture of iodine, it will not stain or blister. Just rub it in and go to bed and in a few days you will wonder where that ugly looking rash or those unsightly pimples have gone. Your skin will soon become smooth and velvety without a single blemish on it.

Don't worry another minute—start this simple treatment today. Go to any good drug store and ask for a small jar of Lanolated Iodine. Use it tonight. You will surely be pleasantly surprised at the results obtained.

The soothing healing and antiseptic virtues of Iodine in this ointment are rubbed right in like a vanishing cream, where they quickly absorb the poisonous, dead or diseased tissues, at the same time protecting and soothing the healthy skin.—Adv.

RHEUMATISM LEAVES YOU FOREVER

Deep Seated Uric Acid Deposits Are Dissolved and the Rheumatic Poison Starts to Leave the System Within Twenty-four Hours.

Every druggist in this county is authorized to say to every rheumatic sufferer in his vicinity that if two bottles of Allenrhu, the sure conqueror of rheumatism, does not stop all agony, reduce swollen joints and do away with even the slightest twinge of rheumatic pain, he will gladly return your money without comment.

Allenrhu has been tried and tested for years, and really marvelous results have been accomplished in the most severe cases where the suffering and agony was intense and piteous and where the patient was helpless.

Mr. James H. Allen, the discoverer of Allenrhu, who for many years suffered the torments of acute rheumatism, desires all sufferers to know that he does not want a cent of anyone's money unless Allenrhu decisively conquers this worst of all diseases and he has instructed Schmidt & Co.'s Drug Store to guarantee it in every instance.—Adv.

Sore Throat Chest Colds

Won't Last Many Hours When Begy's Mustarine Gets on the Job.

No mustard plaster that any grandmother ever made goes after inflammation and congestion like Begy's Mustarine, that you can buy at any drug store in a yellow box for 30 cents, and, best of all, there isn't one blister in a whole carload.

Oftimes when you rub it on at night the inflammation is gone in the morning.

But if it isn't all gone, the relief you prayed for is certain.

And it acts just as fast when used for lumbago, neuralgia, the pains of rheumatism and gout or for sore, aching feet.

In fact, for all aches and pains, soreness and swellings, nothing you can buy at any drug store will produce the hoped for result so quickly as Begy's Mustarine, in the yellow box—made of real yellow mustard. It's the Quickest Pain Killer on Earth.

Strayer Bros. can supply you.—Adv.

I did not mind being kept in after school because I was telling Nibs about the war and the things she seen when she was over there. Lear Ave Gone helping to win it, and about Jeff the policeman. Only she don't know much about him only that he was brung in all shot to pieces one day and got out of bed and tried to sneak back before he got well.

She said that he had as many pieces of old iron in him when they brung him in as there is old iron in a junk wagon. I did not know that the junk men got old iron for soldiers to shoot at each other. I but if a fella got shot with the flat side of a stove lid when he was running away it would make him hurry up a lot faster.

My grandfather was fixing the front door where I busted the lock off this morning and he asted me if I had seen any ghosts lately and I hadn't. He said he never seen any and he was in the war and was out on the battle fields at night where there was men that had been being shot all day. I asted him if both sides counted up all the men that was shot on both sides all day and if the one that had shot the most was winners and he said that they did not shoot the men on both sides only on one side. That would sound kinda funny if he was not a liar.

Younise had an apple when we was going to school and Nibs asted her for a bite but she would not give it to him but she said she would give me a bite and I wrapped my face around it so far that she almost lost her thumb but she thought that was a good joke. I told Nibs when she was gone that she thought it was a good joke because she liked me. And he said it was and when I asted him if he ...wer I another piece of ... he said he didn't.

I used to think Younise was do... looked before I liked her so well but she ain't so-legged as all when you look at her sideways. She has got yellow hair and blue eyes and who I asted my father if her folks was rich and he guessed they was pretty comfortable. It is enough to make anybody comfortable to have a dotter like Younise.

It began to snow when we got to school and it snowed till school let out and the snow packed so good that we stayed around the school having a hurt. Jeness came out and got in it and so did some of the girls and someone soaked Jonesy in the eye before she had time to shut it and when we got her in the schoolhouse her eye looked awful and she said that was the first time she was ever wounded in battle but she did not blame us so we was all

GOES TWELVE MILES TO GET MORE TANLAC

Retired Ohio Farmer Says He Would Travel One Hundred Miles Rather Than Be Without It.

"I came twelve miles for this Tanlac for my wife and I would go one hundred miles if necessary," said Prosper Barnard, a retired farmer of R F D No 62, Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio.

"Anybody seeing my wife now would never take her for the same woman she was just a few weeks ago. For years she had stomach trouble of the very worst sort. She had little or no appetite to speak of, and what little she did eat caused her misery afterwards. I've seen her undergo tortures from pains in the chest and around the heart. She had choking spells, too, and would gasp for breath.

"She was almost a nervous wreck and got little sleep at night, never more than a half hour at a time. She was so bad off she couldn't do a bit of work around the house and I had to devote all my time to looking after and waiting on her. During the years she was sick I bought enough medicine for her, to fill a two horse wagon but they did her no more good than so much water.

"Tanlac proved different from all the rest. She began to get better almost from the first dose. Now she has a hearty appetite, and no matter what she eats is never troubled with indigestion. She sleeps all night long without waking once and in the morning gets up so bright and cheerful she starts the day singing like a happy girl. She looks ten years younger, now, and no one could ever tell she ever had a sick day.

"We never expect to be without Tanlac at our house and my wife told me when I left home to be sure and bring a bottle back with me. Tanlac is our family medicine from now on."

Tanlac is sold in Marion by The Dumble Pharmacy, in LaRue by Siffitt's Pharmacy and in Waldo by Apt Pharmacy.—Adv.

GARIS' BEDTIME STORIES

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE COLD SPEAR.

[BY HOWARD R. GARIS]

[Copyright 1921 by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.]

Once upon a time, as Uncle Wiggily Longears the bunny rabbit gentleman was hopping through the woods he heard some one speaking behind a clump of bushes.

"All ready now, cold spear," said the voice. "I'm going to rush at you with a cold spear."

"Run don't walk to the nearest exit," said another voice. "I think we'd better go."

"I'll be careful," said the first voice. It was a nice voice and the bunny knew it. There was a clatter and clang and he also heard some one laughing in a kind of sad way.

"Oh, but you're kidding. You're tickling me with the cold spear."

Uncle Wiggily hardly knew what to think for as yet he could see no one.

"If the two of boys playing together or the fox and wolf this is no place for me," said the bunny gentleman to himself. "I guess I'd better run."

But before he ran the bunny gentleman peeked through the bushes and what he saw made him smile. For he saw playing together Johnnie and Billie Fish, all the two squirrel boys in their warm fur coats. They didn't mind the cold winter weather which had made the ground all white with snow.

"Hello squirrel boys!" cried Uncle Wiggily in his jolly voice as he hopped around behind the bush. "What game are you playing? Who is tickling who and what is a cold spear?"

"We are playing a soldier game," answered Billie. "And Johnnie comes rushing at me with a cold spear only I don't like it when he tickles me and I have to laugh for you mustn't laugh when you're a soldier."

"Not much that is true," said Uncle Wiggily. "But what are cold spears?"

"These icicles," answered Johnnie and he pointed to some long sharp frozen sticks of water that were hanging from the rocks at a place where there was a waterfall in the summer. Only now the waterfall was frozen and there were many icicles around it.

"Cold spears! Is that what you call them?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"That's what we call them," answered Billie. "The icicles are cold and are shaped just like a soldier's sticker's spear, you know."

And indeed the icicles were long thick on one end and thin and sharp pointed on the other.

"Do you want to play with us, Uncle Wiggily?" asked Billie. "You could be the enemy and Johnnie and I could be soldiers. We could run at you with the cold spears. The icicles are cold you know and we won't (?) not to. Say, will you? Will you play?"

Uncle Wiggily answered by looking at his watch, biting his nails and doing some other funny things as he spoke away.

Uncle Wiggily did not go very far and he was just wondering if he would have an adventure when all of a sudden out from behind a rock popped the bad old fox!

"Ah ha! Oh ho!" barked the fox.

"Ah ha! Oh ho!" barked the fox. "I am just in time I see!"

"Time for what?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"Time to nibble your ears," answered the Fox. "I haven't nibbled them very much this year and I must start now."

Uncle Wiggily looked around for some way to escape. He saw none but he saw something else that made him glad. This was a long cold sharp icicle hanging down from the rock near the Fox.

"Oh ho! Nibble my ears will you? Well I guess not," said the brave bunny.

"Who will stop me?" sneezed the Fox.

"I will!" With this cold sharp spear suddenly cried the bunny. Then just as he had seen the squirrel boys do Uncle Wiggily broke off the icicle. Holding the sharp point in front of him Uncle Wiggily rushed at the Fox.

And did the bad chap wait to be tickled and scratched by the icicle spear? Indeed he did not. Tucking his tail between his legs away ran the Fox howling.

"Oh don't spear me! Don't tickle me with a cold spear icicle!" And Uncle Wiggily didn't, because the Fox ran away so fast. Then the bunny laughed and dropped his icicle spear, which broke into thirteen pieces. So all was well.

Think It Over

"LANGUID"— THAT'S THE WORD

Not Sick Exactly, Just Seem To Have No Ambition.

AN AWFUL FEELING SELDOM NECESSARY

Pepto-Mangan, the Red Blood Builder, Does Away with Languor.

If you don't feel like going long you won't. If you wonder where some people get all their energy, the answer is from good red blood which in turn makes rich red blood.

If your food does not give the nourishment and vigor it should it is most likely that your blood is so weak that it needs a little extra help for a time to build up to normal strength.

Thousands of men and women have been restored to vigorous health and lasting happiness by Gude's Pepto-Mangan. This beneficial blood tonic contains the very properties so vitally needed to improve the blood. Pepto-Mangan, if taken for a few weeks, will enrich the blood and create thousands of the tiny red blood cells that are so necessary to carry nourishment and strength to every part of the body.

Be sure to ask your druggist for "Gude's" when you order Pepto-Mangan. For convenience it is prepared in liquid and tablet form, but possessing exactly the same medicinal properties. "Gude's" is the genuine Pepto-Mangan. Look for name "Gude's" on the package.—Adv.

THE WISE CAFETERIA.

"IT CURED MY STOMACH TROUBLE," SAYS LADY WHO USED HYPO-COD

Indigestion Pains and Symptoms of Kidney and Bladder Trouble.

WORRIED HER UNTIL HYPO-COD STOPPED IT

"I suffered terribly with Indigestion, Kidney and Bladder trouble. My stomach was so weak I'd have awful pains after eating no matter how little. I had pains in my back all the time and nights was forced to get up several times on account of my kidneys.

"A friend who had trouble the same way told me how to get rid of my troubles, and the very first bottle of Hypo-Cod I took made me improve very fast. I took Hypo-Cod steadily for several weeks and today I recommend it just like my friend did to me, because it has permanently cured me of all stomach trouble. I now have a hearty appetite and eat anything I want without fear of pain in my stomach or bowels. The pains in my back have gradually faded away and I now can sleep alright every night without being obliged to get up anymore. Thanks to Hypo-Cod which I can not praise too highly I am feeling splendid," writes Sarah A. Depew, P. O. Box 88 Pequanning, Mich.

Many people permit themselves to become so rundown that nearly all their vital organs, kidneys, liver, bladder, stomach, etc., become weakened and then all sorts of troubles start. By building themselves up strong and well such troubles would soon disappear for once the system is vigorous and full of energy, nature throws off such aches and pains mighty quick.

Earle's Hypo-Cod is a nice tasting, modern and powerful tonic which does its work quickly. Now is the time of year when it is dangerous to remain in a weakened condition. Build yourself up now. The cost per bottle is trifling.—Adv.

ANOTHER FALLACY EXPLODED.

It is a curious fact, perhaps not generally known, that the famous Napoleon pearls in the Louvre are taken out once a year and given by the government to a woman designated for the honor to wear for a little while. This is in line with an ancient popular belief that pearls, unless worn in contact with the human body, lose their luster and become dull.

A recent decision in a California court ordered Mrs. James B. Blum to wear her necklace for thirty days each year. It was claimed that since the death of the relative from whom Mrs. Blum inherited the pearls they had not been worn and so had lost their value. It is a rarity for a court of law to take cognizance of a popular custom or superstition. But this one about the pearls has been in general credence for centuries and has had high authority to back it.

Now comes Andrew Alexander, noted gem expert of Philadelphia, to explode the belief. "It is absolutely unnecessary for pearls, in order to keep their fire, to be worn," says Mr. Alexander. "Many times we have had jewels lying in our safe deposit vaults for ten to fifteen years. The pearls have never shown any ill effects."

SIMPLIFIED METHOD NEEDED.

The salaried man or the industrial worker can hope for little success in evading his personal income tax. The government requires that his employer shall make a statement of the amounts paid during the year to each employe, and it is easy for tax collectors to ascertain whether the individual has reported correctly. The fact that certain persons are able to evade payment of their obligations to the government gives no excuse for others to do the same. The government does owe an obligation to honest taxpayers, though, that it use every available means to bring the slackers to account.

Reports on incomes for 1920 will be due on or before March 15, and it is the duty of the government to insist that the fullest possible compliance with the laws be made. Many persons who earned large incomes in industry in 1919 and the first half of 1920 find their earnings have greatly fallen off on account of the industrial depression. The government will lose much revenue on this account, and it becomes the more necessary that tax evaders be brought to an accounting.

The complicated system of collecting taxes on sales and on excess profits, which gives opportunity for tax evasions, should give way to a more simple method—a method so direct that evasion will be difficult, if not impossible, and one which will give the individual who pays on salary or other direct earnings better assurance of the square deal.

And now, right in the face of all this "crime wave" stuff, we are told that the records show there was less crime in Chicago last year than the year before. The statisticians always were a contrary lot.

Even when we do have a snowstorm, it melts so rapidly that we do not have enough exercise with the snow shovel to keep ourselves in form. Oh, for the glad summertime and the joy to be had out of pushing the lawnmower!

What sort of person is it, do you suppose, who drives his automobile through a residence street after midnight with his muffler wide open, tooting his horn madly at every cross street?—Ohio State Journal.

If we expressed our honest opinion, the issue would probably be barred from the mails.

HOW TIMES HAVE CHANGED.

It does not require a long stretch of the memory to recall that "trust busting" was once one of the favorite pastimes of politicians who were trying to get into office, or to obtain official places for their friends. It was the open season for war on any enterprise that looked like a so-called trust.

It was the late President Roosevelt who said that there were good and bad trusts—the good ones were to be coddled and the bad ones were to be suppressed. Congress even passed some laws on the subject, which are sometimes even yet used as bugaboos to frighten timid corporations. The point is not that there are trusts that need to be feared, but rather that the attitude of the public and the government as well has changed toward what were at one time considered dangerous combinations in restraint of trade—organizations, in fact, which threatened to take away the liberties of the people.

The government recently gave permission to the four big express companies to consolidate. A few years ago such action would have been unthinkable, for would not competition be destroyed and a great monopoly be created if the companies reached an understanding regarding rates and methods of operation? The Interstate Commerce commission is now said to have directed an economist of Harvard university to map out a series of mergers for the railroads. These mergers would permit more economical operation within a given territory and make for greater efficiency.

The "trust busters" have gone into the discard and business judgment is beginning to assert itself.

BE A BOOSTER.

And help to put your town upon the map!

Newspapers, universally almost, work for the advancement and improvement of the communities in which they are published. Yet their untiring efforts are so little appreciated too often, that they elicit nought but criticism.

But the newspapers just go ahead doing their duties.

Let me quote from a recent editorial in the McConnelsville Herald:

At the basket-ball game last Friday night two equally-matched teams faced each other. Marietta had a splendid team and so did the home boys. All things being equal, it would have been difficult to have picked the winner. But McConnelsville won. Why did she win? Practically our whole high school was lined up on the floor. They gave class yells and cheered and shouted every time one of the local team made a good play. Every one of the boys was thus enthused and filled with the spirit of winning. It was contagious. It was in the air. It was the morale of M. and M. that won the game. It is the will to win which is the biggest factor in the game of life. It is what makes success so many times for one of mediocre talents. For it is better to have the will to win, without ability, than to have ability without morale. We need a new community morale in the county, born of a spirit of loyalty. Let us commence talking the county up instead of eternally playing up its draw-backs.

The proper sentiment is expressed in the editorial from which I've quoted—the sentiment which should prevade every community in this broad land.

We make or mar our own lives—individually and collectively. No individual is blessed with all the talents; no individual is burdened with all the handicaps.

Every person can put his talents to work—if he will; every person can lighten his handicaps—if he will.

No community has all the advantages; no community has all the disadvantages.

The advantages of any community can be strengthened and improved; the disadvantages can be lessened or ameliorated.

What any individual is—depends very largely upon himself.

What any community is—depends very largely upon its people.

Every community should know what team work means.

Mass play is the thing.

If you're not fit to be in the fray—stand on the side line and cheer.

Add to the general morale.

Don't stand silent and sullen; be a cheer leader.

Don't carp and criticise; yell for the home team.

Don't use a mallet; use a megaphone.

Cheer, darn you—cheer!

SCHILLINGER FUNERAL SERVICE HERE SUNDAY

No Emanuel Lutheran Church Services That Day.

The funeral service for Rev. Sylvanus Schillinger will be conducted Sunday afternoon. At 2 o'clock a brief service will be held at the Emanuel Lutheran parsonage, No. 131 Cherry street; and at 2:30 a service will be held in the Emanuel Lutheran church on south Prospect street. On this occasion Dr. L. H. Schuh, of Toledo, a personal friend of Rev. Mr. Schillinger's family, will preach the sermon. Neighboring [illegible] are to be in attendance and take part in the service.

Monday morning the body will be taken to Canal Winchester, and at 1 o'clock on Monday afternoon services will be held in Rev. [illegible]'s church at Canal Winchester. At the service in Marion Mayor of Capitol City Lodge, No. [illegible], will preach. The remains will be interred in the cemetery at Canal Winchester.

The regular services in Emanuel Lutheran church for Sunday will be omitted, Sunday-school, however, will be held at the usual hour.

SINGLE REGISTRATION FAVORED BY GOVERNOR

New Registration Plan Is Being Worked Out.

Columbus, Feb. 11—Under a plan being worked out by Secretary of State Smith Election Statistician Johnson and George Shauf of Canton, working together on a recodification of election laws it is proposed to hold one more general registration and then make the voters list continuous through modifications necessitated by new voters deaths and removals. It would make registration only by a double affidavit plan possible at any time up to 30 days before election. The changes in the system, it is declared, would involve little expense or labor. Governor Davis in a statement declared adoption of such a system would save the state half a million dollars a year.

BASEBALL

Magnates Meet.

Cleveland, Feb. 11—American league magnates are in session here today, considering three questions of league and interleague policy, as follows:

1—A plan for compensating umpires in the World series on the percentage basis. Umpires have requested that shares of four players—two of the winning and two of the losing team—be set aside and divided among the four umpires participating.

2—An increase in the waiver price of players from $2,500 to $4,000 or more.

3—Means of providing for the salary of Judge K. M. Landis, baseball's supreme ruler. It has been suggested that the national commission, hereafter, take fifteen per cent of the World series receipts, instead of ten, as formerly.

Attends Cincinnati Conference.

E. J. Merchant, local manager of the Western Union Telegraph company, has returned from a three-days' conference of commercial managers in Cincinnati. Managers from Cincinnati and Ohio were in attendance. Means of improving the service, of creating new business, and the part to be played by the telegraph in the period of readjustment were the chief topics of discussion taken up at the sessions during the conference.

NEWLIN SERMONS WILL BE DELIVERED SATURDAY

Plan of Acquainting People with Evangelist's Work.

DR. NEWLIN TO BEGIN SERVICES FEBRUARY 16

Professor C. E. Bonney, Singing Evangelist, To Arrive for Meeting Tuesday Night.

Although the Newlin meetings will not begin at the First Presbyterian church until February 16, two of Dr. O. R. Newlin's printed sermons will be delivered tomorrow to the 600 homes connected with the church.

The publicity committee has adopted this plan of acquainting the people with the evangelist's style of preaching in advance of his coming, feeling sure that this will result in a widespread interest that will cause the church to be filled to its capacity at the very beginning of the campaign.

Preparatory Services.

Next Sunday evening the services preparatory to the Newlin meetings will close with a sermon by Rev. Thomas Watkins, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Delaware. Dr. Watkins is a native of Wales and has had some thrilling experiences in connection with the great Welsh revival which stirred the religious world a few years ago. These experiences will doubtless be the basis of his sermon next Sunday evening. Dr. L. L. Strock will go to Delaware for the evening service in the Presbyterian church next Sunday.

G. E. BONNEY.

Service Last Evening.

The service last evening was in charge of the Men's Bible class with Y. M. C. A. Secretary O. H. Carrier as the leader. The meeting this evening will be under the auspices of the Women's Bible class with Mrs. Emma Thompson as leader.

Professor G. E. Bonney will arrive in the city Tuesday evening to lead the singing in the Newlin meetings at the First Presbyterian church. An informal get-acquainted meeting and song service will be held at the church Tuesday evening. Rodeheaver's latest song books will be used in the meetings.

A BOILERMAKER'S HELPER BECOMES SUPERINTENDENT

Rise in Rail World of H. R. Adams, Marion.

In the February 1 issue the Erie Employees Magazine carries the portrait of H. R. Adams, of Marion, in group with other officials of the Kent region of the Erie, together with the following write-up:

H. R. Adams, superintendent of the Kent division, entered the service of the Erie railroad at Chicago October, 1896, as boilermaker's helper and served in that capacity as well that of boilermaker. He remember, 1898, entered the train service on the Chicago division, and served as brakeman and conductor. January, 1913, he was appointed trainmaster of the Chicago division. November, 1916, he was appointed assistant superintendent of the Kent division. September, 1918, he was appointed superintendent of the Kent division."

Who the Owners Are.

The Bucyrus Iron & Metal company, owned by Philip Brokaw and sons, have opened a branch establishment at Marion, having purchased three acres north east of the passenger station here on Hoover street, and will build a 250 foot siding into the yard dealing in a wholesale manner in iron and metal. Morris and Harry Brokaw have been given charge of the Marion branch of the Bucyrus industry and state they will install a heavy pair of shears for cutting up the heavier pieces of metal. The Marion branch was opened the first of the week.—Bucyrus Telegraph.

SUGAR Half Price!

EPIDEMIC OF HALF-PRICE SALES SWEEPS THE COUNTRY

A FABLE WITH A MORAL

Marion, O., Feb. 10th.

"Sugar half price, formerly 28 cents now 14 cents." If you saw a sign like that in the window of a grocery store today what would you think of that grocer? And would you pay him 14 cents for his sugar today just to get it at half price when you can buy sugar, all you want today, for 10 cents or less? Still that grocer would only be telling you the truth when he says "formerly 28 cents," for sugar did reach that price.

Another good illustration of this same deception is the German Mark which was worth 24 cents one upon a time, but can now be had in any quantities at about a cent and a half. If your banker today hung out a sign which read: "German Marks Half Price, Regular 24 cents, Now 12 Cents," what would you think of the banker, and would you pay him 12 cents for German Marks that are actually worth about one and one-half cents?

Now for an example of how this same line of argument applies to our own lines.

Take men's hats, for instance. Our present prices are $1.98 to $4.98. How many merchants are selling you a hat today at one-half price or $1.00 to $2.50?

Take a man's percale or madras shirt. We are selling a good, full cut, percale dress shirt today at 98c, $1.69 and $1.98. How many half-price shirt sales are giving you a first class shirt for 50 cents to $1.00?

Take men's work shirts. Our new regular prices are 69c and 89c. How many half-price sales are offering you work shirts at 35 cents to 42 cents each?

Overalls, another item. Our Pay-Day overalls, best made, present price $1.49 a pair. How many first class overalls are selling at this price today?

Sox—our silk fiber sox, splendid quality, present price 45 cents. How many are selling them at 23c on half price sales?

Dry goods piece goods—they offer startling reductions. Take 32 inch Amoskeag dress ginghams; our regular price is 19c yard. Where can you find it on sale for the price we ask?

A good ladies' elastic top corset at 98 cents. Where can you find it on sale at our regular price?

Fine quality satin at $1.69, or taffetas at $1.98. Go right on through our regular prices and you will find the same condition prevailing.

Take our entire shoe stock. We have placed the new retail price on every shoe in our store. Men's work shoes, for example, $2.25 to $4.98, regular prices. How many sale prices sell shoes at $1.15 to $2.59? Ladies', boys', girls' shoes the same condition holds good.

Retailers throughout the country who still persist in marking their goods at his highest prices that they might have fetched once upon a time, and then offering these goods to the public at half price, are in reality selling you German Marks at 12 cents and Sugar at 14 cents.

MORAL. Don't be mislead by these discount sales on the highest prices the country has ever seen. The J. C. Penney Stores—312 in all—operating all over the United States, never hold a sale. Our policy is to at all times sell our merchandise at the lowest possible price to place on good merchandise.

When the market was going down we followed it at all times, making daily reductions so we could at all times give our customers the very lowest market price on every article they bought—a price only made possible by our tremendous buying power and selling on a small profit for cash.

We can quote you hundreds of items from our stocks and show you by actual comparison that you can come to our store when you are ready to buy good dependable merchandise at real money saving prices. Besides, we back up every dollar's worth we sell with the privilege of exchange or money back at your option.

We have noticed most sale prices do not carry the usual courtesy extended when you buy.
